Man Fined On Two Of Five Charges

BLOOMFIELD — Clay Wilfong Jr., 54, of St. Louis, appeared before Judge Koss Blomeyer Thursday in Stoddare County Magistrate Court on charges of writing a forged check, leaving the scene of an accident, stealing and tampering with an auto, driving while intoxicated and having no operator's license.

Wilfong pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated.

Hearing on the forgery charge, dating back to 1968, was continued to June 8.

Wilfong was fined $100 and costs for driving while intoxicated or 60 days in jail, and fined $10 and $12.10 court costs for having no operator's license. He was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court for leaving the scene of an accident and stealing and tampering with a motor vehicle.

Wilfong was arrested May 4 on route H south of Dexter by Sgt. Joe Matthews of the Missouri Highway Patrol after the 1972 Pontiac which Wilfong was driving and accused of stealing struck the rear of a pickup truck driven by Paul Morgan, 22, of Bernie on Highway 25, four miles south of Dexter. The Morgan vehicle then struck the rear of a car driven by Lowell Wayne Shelby, 19, of Parma. The cars were stopped during one way traffic because of road construction.

Matthews testified that he observed the Pontiac headed south with a damaged front and steam rising from the radiator. He was stopped by the patrolman after traveling one half mile.

Matthews described Wilfong as being unable to stand without leaning on the car, flushed and nervous. Wilfong was taken to Stoddard County jail by trooper Larry Thompson.

Preliminary hearing for Paul Miller and Lonnie Reed on charges of stealing chemicals, saws and drills from the Alvey Wallace farm, Catron, May 9 was continued to June 8.

Billy Ray Baker was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court for charges of burglary and stealing $17.75 on May 7 from the Patrick Feed Store of Bloomfield.

Merl Eugene Inman was fined $10 and $12.10 court costs for having no operator's license and $100 and $14.90 costs for driving while intoxicated.

James Delmer Lamastus and George Eldon Waggoner, charged with careless and imprudent driving and being involved in an accident, were each fined $15 and $12.10 costs.

Aaron Nimrod Hendley pleaded innocent to charges of careless and imprudent driving and being involved in an accident. Trial was set for June 8.

Clarence Cecil waived preliminary hearing on charges of a no funds check and was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court.

Hearing for Gene Edward Mekan on charges of driving in excess of 100 m.p.h. in a 65 m.p.h. zone, driving while license suspended and failing to yield to red light and siren was continued to June 15.

Roy Lee Higgins was given a 90-day paroled sentence and payment of $20.50 court costs on condition of good behavior for charges of possessing a motor vehicle with original manufacturer's number removed. He was fined $10 and $12.10 costs on each of the two charges of improper registration and no operator's license.

Fines and court costs of $12.10 were levied against

Six Hurt In Two Accidents

CHARLESTON — Six were injured in two traffic accidents near Charleston yesterday.

At 3:10 p.m. at McLeansboro, Ill., couple Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Badgett, both 72, were injured when their car collided with one driven by William Carpenter, 26, of Memphis. Carpenter also was injured. The three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

According to the highway patrol, the accident occurred when the Badgett car made a left turn into the path of Carpenter's auto. Badgett was arrested on charge of making an improper left turn.

Roger Rice, 16, and Edward Bonta, 27, of East Prairie received cuts and bruises at 10:30 last night on highway 105, two miles south of Charleston. They were each riding motorcycles when an unidentified car cut too close and forced the cycles into a collision causing them both to overturn, the patrol said.

A Passenger on the Bonta motorcycle, Joyce Warren, 18, of Charleston, received cuts and bruises. The three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Correction

BENTON — Elvis Lee Newton, Morehouse, was fined $10 and costs in Magistrate court Wednesday for permitting an unauthorized person to drive, instead of $70 as reported Thursday.

Probation Granted After Funds Theft

NEW MADRID — Virgil Allen pleaded guilty in circuit court Thursday to felonious stealing in connection with the theft March 28 of a glass jar containing $150 earmarked for benefit of Jimmy Henderson, 15, who was hospitalized for a cerebral hemmorhage.

Judge William L. Ragland sentenced Allen to two years in the department of corrections and placed him under supervised probation on recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Hal E. Hunter Jr.

Hunter told the court Allen committed the crime while he was drunk and that restitution had been made. As Allen left the court room, the prosecutor told him "to quit drinking and go to work."

Frank Catron, charged with felonious stealing, was placed on probation without supervision after he was given a two-year sentence on his guilty plea. Catron was charged with stealing a rifle valued at $64.95 from Phillips Tru Value Hardware store in New Madrid Feb. 19.

He was arrested by Cape Girardeau authorities when they were notified Catron was on a northbound Greyhound bus.

Hunter told the court Catron had made restitution and recommended the procedure as this was Catron's first offense. Catron told the court he was sorry for what he had done and he wasn't going to get into any more trouble.

W. R. Grace Company was awarded $5,157.62 judgment against James L. Strong.

An unlawful detainer suit filed by Lennie S. Watkins, Sr., against John L. and E. E. Wattle was transferred to Dunklin County Circuit Court on change of venue.

Woman Files Kidnap Charge Against Man

CHARLESTON — Leslie Allen Achter, of East Prairie, arrested Saturday on a felony charge of kidnapping, appeared before Magistrate T.J. Brown, Jr., Thursday and requested an attorney be appointed to represent him on the charge. He remains in the Mississippi County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

A complaint was filed Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Mary Cooper of East Prairie, charging Achter kidnapped her.

Mrs. Cooper charged she was kidnapped Wednesday on the north Whiting Road near East Prairie and held against her will until Saturday when they were picked up in a car in Wyatt by City Marshall John Pearson.

Sheriff W. J. Simmons said Tuesday Mrs. Cooper, who is the wife of Larry Cooper, told authorities Achter threatened her and told her to meet him. They met on the North Whiting Road, Mrs. Cooper said and Achter got into her car. Her son, Randy accompanied her.

Mrs. Cooper told authorities she and Achter had a fight, he beat her, and she told her son to run. She said Achter chased the boy in his car, leaving her alone. The boy jumped over a fence and escaped, Mrs. Cooper said, but when she tried the same thing she fell in a ditch and nearly drowned. Achter returned and helped her out of the water, she said.

Sheriff Simmons said Mrs. Cooper and Achter then "took off" and were gone until Saturday.

Mrs. Eileen Powell was bound over to circuit court on a felony charge of selling liquor with a license following a preliminary hearing. Mrs. Powell is accused of selling mixed drinks to state liquor agents at the Storming Bull Restaurant April 6.

A $1,000 bond remains in effect returnable to court June 13.

A charge of murder in the first degree was continued to June 8 to allow Andrew D. Mays time to employ counsel. Mays is charged with the May 10 death of Charles Woods.

A felonious assault charge against Monroe Sharp was continued to June 22. Sharp is accused of shooting at Andrew Mays with a .22 rifle on April 16. A charge of no operator's license against Sharp was continued.

Judge Brown suspended a 30-day jail sentence and fined Felix Ray $100 for driving while intoxicated. He was placed on one year's probation. Larry Gene Harris and Walter Cloyde Provance were both sentenced to 10 days in jail on the same charge. Driving while intoxicated and careless and imprudent driving charges against John Ivey Caudell were dismissed. The costs were certified to Mississippi County.

An attorney was appointed to represent Stanley Chessor on a felony charge of forgery. Chessor is accused of writing a $25 check to Douglas Grocery in East Prairie on Dec. 19 and forging the name of Mrs. Lucille Vaughn, 313 S. Martin, St., East Prairie.

Chessor remains in jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Arkansans Injured In Plane Crash

POPLAR BLUFF — Three Conway, Ark., residents escaped serious injury yesterday when their small aircraft ran off the end of a dirt runway, 12 miles north of Poplar Bluff, and crashed.

The accident occurred two miles south of Wappapello Dam on Route T on a 1200-foot dirt strip at the Daivs Air Ranch.

Bob Davis, owner, said he heard a plane having trouble and ran out of the garage in time to see the plane run off the north end of the airstrip.

The plane was occupied by Samuel T. Smith, 46, pilot, Dr. H. O. Weatherly, 37, and his son, Harley O. Weatherly, III, 7.

They were taken to Lucy Lee Hospital where Smith was hospitalized with a back injury and cuts. Weatherly and his son were treated for minor injuries and released.

The trouble began when the cockpit filled with smoke 8,500 feet above ground. Smith radioed to the Cape Girardeau FAA for assistance in locating an airstrip.

The plane approached the short airstrip low, knocking down a barbed wire fence. It then rolled for 1,000 feet before passing between two upright posts and crashing nose down on the shoulder of route T.

The 210 Cessna, four passenger plane, was a total loss.

Agreement Reached On Nuclear Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union reached "final agreement" today on a two-part agreement to limit the deployment of strategic nuclear weapons, the White House announced.

Signing of the accord was scheduled for a Kremlin ceremony late tonight, following President Nixon's dinner for his Soviet hosts.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the accord was reached at a two-hour afternoon summit meeting with the three top Soviet leaders— Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexi N. Kosygin.

The agreement culminates 2 1/2 years of negotiations.

Word of a SALT agreement came after a day of on-again, off-again reports of the prospects for a Friday settlement.

One part of the agreement, limiting defensive antiballistic missile sites in each country, takes the form of a treaty subject to ratification by the U.S. Senate and was agreed upon first.

Under the terms of a companion executive agreement, which will take effect without legislative action, deployment of offensive nuclear missiles will be frozen at the present level so far as the United States is concerned. The Russians will be allowed to catch up with the U.S. lead in launching platforms.

The accord permits both countries to replace existing offensive missiles, whether on land or aboard ships at sea, with more sophisticated weapons as technological advances permit.

At about the same time, Tass reported the President and Soviet leaders had agreed to establish a joint commission to "promote the development of mutually advantageous relations in trade." It was the first break-through in difficult trade negotiations since the President arrived here Monday.

The creation of such a commission had been suggested before the summit talks by some U.S. trade officials because difficult negotiations on settlement of Soviet World War II lendlease debts stood in the way of any broader trade agreements, such as multimillion-dollar grain purchases from the United States by Russia, plus U.S. credits.

U.S. summit negotiators had made no secret of their hopes for the signing this evening of a treaty and companion executive agreement to limit the deployment of offensive and defensive nuclear missiles on land and at sea.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If the day ends and you have not said anything you will have to deny tomorrow, you can't complain.

WHAT'S RIGHT WITH OUR COUNTRY?

The U. S. A. has a lot going for it, strengths on which to build. But too little of that message is getting through to our youth. If we keep criticizing our country we can hardly blame our young people for looking elsewhere for inspiration.

What is right with our country? Let's take a few examples:

1) We had the foresight to found a republic and a social system where basic freedoms could survive through nearly two centuries of civil war, world war, depression, drought, and other disasters — until it stands today as the oldest democratic government in the world.

2) We had the ability to produce and innovate; to create job opportunities; reward excellence; raise living, health, and educational standards; support the arts and sciences; and provide unprecedented opportunities for personal achievement.

3) We supplied food, aid, and technical assistance to the needy — domestically and worldwide — in the world's largest effort to help the less fortunate help themselves.

4) We stood by our defense commitments through two decades of the cold war, at a staggering cost to human and material resources.

5) We had the strength and humility to look at still-unsolved domestic problems where solutions are long overdue; ghettos, crime, race riots, and to take action toward their solution.

What is right with the great majority of young Americans (in contrast to the small minority of New Left radicals) is that they are searching for solutions to our still-unsolved problems. They care more deeply about poverty and other issues than we, their parents, ever did in our day. And they want a piece of the action.

ON MEMORIAL DAY

Americans have given their lives in wars throughout the world. Mostly the sacrifices have been unhesitating because there has been a stated or implied promise that the supreme gift would help build a better, finer, free America.

Today a thousand bugles will sound to rest the spirit of our soldiers dead. The soothing of their notes is needed.

In one war, a youth flew above the battle lines in France. If he were here today, he might be one of the city's great doctors, following the footsteps of his father. But doom dived from the clouds; tracer bullets flashed in a short, sharp fight and he died.

Today the letters he had written his mother are her only solace for the silence of her boy's voice. In them he said he knew he was helping a magnificent cause — the betterment of mankind.

In another war, in another part of the world, a young farmer splashed through the dark, his shoulder under one end of a pole carrying a container of food to his comrades up ahead. When he and his buddy rested, he commented on the need to fight through those foreign farm lands so that the farm back home could stay safe and happy.

As they picked up their burden, there was the sibilant murmer that meant a machinegun was searching the path. A "thuck" sounded, and the young farmer lay in the mud. He gasped: "You'll have to take care of those farms without me."

In another part of the world a man toiled all night through the freezing rain so the guns would be in their emplacements before dawn. There was no hot food, no warmth that had been so plentiful in the store back home where his wife was doing the work of both. His cold seemed to be more troublesome, too. Another day and the doctor said pneumonia; another and the man's life ended. But in a way, he went without regrets. He had been told that such sacrifices would help make a better place in which to live.

These, and many others.

Their hallowed memories say that to us, from falling hands, they've thrown the torch. It's ours, to hold on high. If we break faith with them, who died, they shall not sleep.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL
AT 50

Washington's three most famous landmarks -- the Capitol, the Washington Monument, and the Lincoln Memorial -- seemed to have coexisted forever, so perfectly are they aligned. Each affords a picture - postcard view of the other two that is especially striking at night. And yet the Lincoln Memorial was dedicated only 50 years ago -- on May 30, 1922 -- with President Harding and Chief Justice Taft heading the delegation of dignitaries.

The memorial almost was built elsewhere. When Congress set up the Lincoln Memorial Commission in 1911, House Speaker Joseph G. Cannon recommended a site near the Capitol. In then- swampy West Potomac Park, he warned, "the building would shake itself down with loneliness and ague." Every member of the commission agreed with Cannon. But they finally settled on the park as the only possible compromise. Their fears of course, were groundless. The memorial is far and away the most popular tourist attraction in the nation's capital, with 2.3 million visitors last year.

Although the Lincoln Memorial is a youngster as far as commemorative structures go, it is showing some signs of age. A report in The New York Times (Feb. 6, 1972) quoted "one alarmed authority" as saying that the building was decomposing so rapidly that it was "like a giant Alka- Seltzer table -- you can almost hear it fizz when it rains." Air pollution and wear and tear were cited as major reasons for the purported damage.

National Capital Parks, the federal agency responsible for upkeep of the memorial, contends that such reports are "greatly exaggerated." A spokesman for NCP told Editorial Research Reports that the only structural problems requiring attention at present are roof leakage and mortarless joints. Neither NCP nor any other government agency plans any 50th anniversary ceremony on May 30. None is needed; thousands of visitors pay homage every day. And more than a few would agree with ex-Washingtonian Caryl Rivers, who recently wrote in the New York Times Magazine (May 7, 1972) that "there can be no lovelier spot on the planet than this temple to Lincoln on a spring night."

Just what is a hometown newspaper? This question is faced recurrently by the editors and publishers of small town newspapers.

The answers are manifold.

The hometown newspaper is a freely operated chamber of commerce.

It is the hub around which all cultural actions of the community revolve.

The hometown newspaper is the town hall of the 20th century, where the most humble voice may find expressive.

It is the record keeper of the community - the repository for future historians.

The hometown newspaper is the unifying force of a trade area which makes a center for shopping, talking, compansionship, and recognition of common problems.

The good hometown newspaper is a place where recognition is given for accomplishment and service, and where sloth and greed are scorned.

Overall, the good hometown newspaper is the reflection of a good community.

The local newspaper is not only the mirror of the quality of local schools, government, culture and economy, it is also a prime builder and guardian of these institutions which make for a good community.

"Membership in the United Nations," according to Article 4, Chapter II of the UN Charter, "is open to all peace-loving states ..." On Monday, Oct. 25, 1971, the UN disregarded its own charter, kicking out a most peaceful charter member of the UN, Taiwan, to admit Red China whose "peace loving" nature is such that 32 million Chinese have been killed since 1949 to prove that Red China loves peace so much it will kill anyone who stands in its way. The United Nations is a very sick organization and has just gone to extreme lengths to prove the fact. It deserves no support from moral beings and should be removed from our shores. Elected leaders who support this club of international socialists and cutthroats and who demand that your tax dollars must continue to be used to support the snake pit reasoning which dwells there deserve to be a quickly booted out of office as was Taiwan.

We've been told that if people are sincere about improving the environment, now is their chance to prove it -- they can join the sidewalk lobby.

As Edwin A. Roberts, jr., writes in The National Observer, "What this country needs is not more highways but more sidewalks. Hundreds of housing subdivisions are being built these days without sidewalks. Little children must ride their tricycles in the streets, pedestrians must leap on somebody's lawn when a car approaches .. If the nation finally gets around to doing something about its sidewalk shortage ... A lot of adults may even decide to chance a walk to the store to pick up those weight-reducing pills."

Speaking of the sidewalk situation in Sikeston, many of our sidewalks are sadly in need of repair and replacement. Our city housekeeping has been sadly neglected.

NEW YORK (AP) — So you want to be a good conversationalist?

But you don't have time to memorize a thousand sparkling quotations or read a lot of heavy books so you'll be really well informed?

So what? What does being witty or knowledgeable have to do with being a good conversationalist?

The man who impresses you most with his speaking ability isn't the one who tells you something new. No, it's the one who tells you what you want to hear who sticks in your memory.

The backbone of any real conversational skill lies in probably a dozen or so key remarks you can make which give reassurance to people in most situations and which bolster their own secret high opinion of themselves. Just memorize the following statements, and use them as often as you can to as many people as possible:

"You've been a kind of hero to me in a way for a long time, but I never thought you were so young."

"From the way you're built, I'd judge you must have played a little football in your time—and not so many years ago at that."

"When you know you've got the right on your side, like you do, the battle is half won."

"Well, some people are just born photogenic, and some aren't. You're one of the lucky ones."

"You look like you've been taking off weight lately. What's your secret?"

"The trouble with you is that you're too generous for your own good. Here, let me get this round."

"I can't think of anyone wlse who could hold up under the strain like you do. You must be made of iron."

"Of course, they're all pretty, but I'd say this one is the best looker of the lot—the one that has your eyes and that same delightful little crinkle around the mouth."

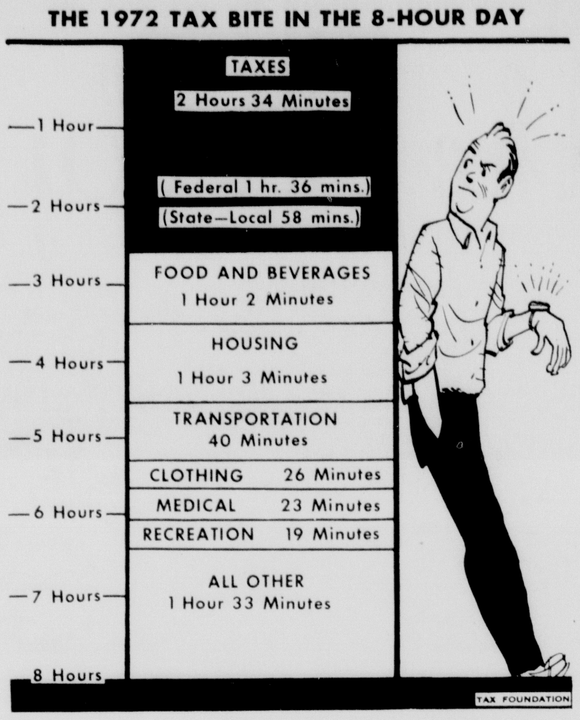

"Well, I'll say one thing about you—you never go off half-cocked. When you open your mouth, you make real sense."

"I should think that a wife lucky enough to have you for a husband really couldn't find much in her life to complain about."

"Why should they expect you to do the thinking for everybody?

Yes, it is only by telling people what they want to hear that you can gain a name as a good conversationalist, one people are always glad to talk to. If you try to tell them anything else, they not only won't listen—they'll spread the word that you're one of the biggestmouthed bores of all time.

THE 1972 TAX BITE IN THE 8-HOUR DAY

The average American will be working 2 hours and 34 minutes in an eight-hour workday this year to pay taxes, says Tax Foundation. The tax bite is about 8 minutes longer than five years ago when the average American worked 2 hours: 26 minutes to pay his Federal, state and local taxes.

HAZARDS OF INGENUITY

Sometimes it pays to get things upside-down.

When a bolt on the main spar of his stunt airplane failed, aerobratic pilot Neil Williams in Bristol, England, turned his plane upside-down in order to relieve strain on the weakened wing.

When he got within several feet of the ground, he flipped the plane over and landed safely.

Then spectators turned their stomachs rightside-up also.

The sweet girl graduate was being shown thru the locomotive shop.

"What is that enormous thing?" she asked.

"That," explained the obliging guide, "is a locomotive boiler.

"And why do they boil locomotives?" asked the girl laughingly, to display her cleverness.

The guide was equal to the occasion. He answered, "To make the engine tender."

The immigration officer demanded: "Name?"

"Sneeze," replied the Chinese, proudly.

The official looker hard at him. "Is that your Chinese name?"

"No, Melican name," said the Oriental, blandly.

"Then let's have your native name."

"Ah Choo."

WHAT ARE YOU
WAITING FOR?

Two young women, who had a comfortable inheritance and literary aspirations, resolved to shun matrimony and devote themselves to a "career." They merely dabbled at writing for a few years, "Waiting for the great inspiration." Then one of them fell in love, married, moved to a distant city, and in time became the mother of two children.

After several years her friend paid her a visit, expecting to console her over her "ruined career." To her astonishment she found the busy wife and mother working on her second novel. The first, published under a nom de plume, had won a place among the "six best" of the previous year. The single woman had not even had a short story accepted.

It is a wise saying that the best inspiration comes from desperation while in a state of perspiration. The person who is "waiting for inspiration" before doing the thing he contemplates, either never does it, or does it poorly, as compared with the efforts of the one who plunges into the job and relies on his own dynamic energy to furnish the inspiration.

Inspiration comes out of a man, not to him. Like perspiration, it is the by-product of intelligent activity.

NOW HEAR THIS, WIFE

Young people who complain that the "establishment" doesn't listen to them have nothing on your average newly married housewife.

A survey of about 300 young couples in Peoria and Decatur, Ill., by the Survey Research Laboratory of the Univ. of Illinois, found that while nine out of 10 wives reported discussing the purchase of a new car with their husbands, only eight of 10 husbands said they discussed the subject with their mates.

In other words, 30 out of 150 husbands just weren't listening when they were addressed by their better halves. Either that or men and women have different definitions of "discussion."

The survey was conducted last fall as part of a continuing study of consumer decisions.

Family size and the wife's working are the two decisions discussed most frequently by young couples. Nine out of 10 couples in the sample group discussed these subjects.

Weekly food expenditures and where to go on vacation are decisions discussed least often.

Another significant finding reported by the laboratory: "It is interesting to note that more wives than husbands believe that you can feel both love and hate for the same person."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., after first refusing to endorse Sen. George McGovern for the Democratic presidential nomination, has now agreed to throw his support to McGovern if the crucial California primary appears close.

Earlier, Kennedy turned down a personal appeal from McGovern for an endorsement. "You've already got my whole family," begged off Kennedy, who has tried to make it a rule to keep out of other people's primaries.

But later, Kennedy indicated through intermediaries that he would help McGovern in California if his support would be decisive. The Massachusetts senator has a strong following among California's blacks and chicanos, who lean toward Hubert Humphrey but could be influenced by Kennedy.

Both McGovern and Humphrey consider it essential to carry California, whose huge bloc of delegates will go to the winner no matter how small his victory margin may be.

This has pitted the two contenders in a high-noon showdown. The drama is heightened by the fact that they are close personal friends and former next-door neighbors. When McGovern was sick, Humphrey brought him hot soup.

For the sake not only of their friendship but the prospects of defeating President Nixon in November, McGovern and Humphrey have agreed not to cut up one another in the California primary. They have also established an informal liaison to stop their political disciples from engaging in smear politics.

Already, McGovern has stopped the circulation of campaign pictures showing Humphrey warmly greeting Georgia's former racist governor, Lester Maddox. McGovern also wouldn't let his campaigners refer to the Vietnam War as "the Johnson-Humphrey War." Humphrey, for his part, has stopped the distribution of material purporting to show that McGovern is anti-Israel.

But as high noon approaches on June 6, there may be a temptation in the rival camps to throw a final punch.

DEFENDING PEKING

In an unusually conciliatory move toward Peking, the White House is vigorously mobilizing the Administration to fight what it calls "arrant nonsense" about Red China's role in world dope trafficking.

The White House gesture toward Mao Tse-tung comes even as President Nixon is wooing Mao's arch rival in the Communist world, Soviet party head Leonid Brezhnev.

A white House memo contains evidence that Richard Nixon, once the implacable foe of Communist China, is now defending China. The memo was circulated quietly to the Departments of State, Defense, Treasury and the U.S. Information Agency.

The memo urges them to fight "propaganda" against Red China. Included with the memo is a two-page briefing paper prepared by the federal intelligence agencies on Red China and opium.

"Tha attached report ....answers in detail allegations that the PRC (Communist China) is flooding the western world with illicit opium," declares the memo from White House drug information director Richard Harkness, formerly an NBC newscaster.

"It is earnestly suggested that this factual report be used as a bible for all of us in replying to and countering any propaganda to the contrary. We must cut down this kind of arrant nonsense."

The "bible" included with the memo contends that a "persistent progaganda campaign... is being promoted in this country by a number of groups who have consistently opposed normalization of relations between the U.S. and the PRC."

"Propaganda leaflets" against Red China contain a June 23, 1966, quote by Chou En-lai to the late President Gamal Nasser of Egypt. In it, Chau allegedly said that "we are planting the best kinds of opium especially for the American soldiers in Vietnam...."

The White House report points out that "it was not until mid-1970 that drug abuse among U.S. servicemen in Vietnam reached serious proportions.

"Moreover, no evidence has yet produced to indicate any attempt on the part of Peking to introduce opium or heroin into Vietnam."

The White House also maintains that China strictly controls opium production. Even in the old opium belts of Yunnan province, states the briefing paper, there is no "significant illicit cross-border movements" to the outside world.

"The tight political control exercised by the (Red Chinese) government over its citizens has probably made the enforcement of these laws quite effective in most areas," the White House claims.

WEATHERMEN AND CHINESE

Footnote: Secret FBI files, meanwhile, accuse the "Weathermen" -- the radical student group which claims responsibility for the recent bombing of the Pentagon -- of taking their political ideology from "Chinese Communists."

The Weatherman dossier contains the full history of the group's split with the Students for a Democratic Society "in early 1969." The militants then "went underground in February, 1970."

Their objective, according to the FBI files, is the "creation of a radical, leftist, anarchist America." They hope to accomplish this by "guerrilla warfare and armed insurrection."

Structurally, says the files, the Weatherman (CQ) consists of three layers -- a central committee and secondary and third-level "focos." The individual "focos." says one ducument, are independent "and know only one contact person in the central committee."

VOTING TRENDS

Voting is some of the state primaries where delegates are named to the national conventions has shown in some instances a trend toward the far left spectrum of politics. One candidate for the Democratic party nomination for the presidency declared after a state ballot victory that the vote showed the United States would soon become "the nation of love, of peace." This would be a wonderful status for all of us but those of the electorate who look at the situation realistically know that national defense and living up to our foreign obligations prohibit us from turning all our swords into plowshares. Our very existence depends on an overpowering defense posture.

We have suffered a terrible loss of face in Indochina. We are struggling to get the last of our troops out of that troubled land without experiencing another Dunkirk. We have advocated peace between the warring factions of Vietnam but the communist enemy has stalled at the peace table and launched fresh unprovoked attacks against our allies in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Those candidates seeking election of high office who advocate, even demand, a fixed date for termination of our effort in Indochina are aiding the cause of Hanoi, Moscow and Peking. They may be doing it without malice. Still it aids and abets our avowed enemies, the nations that adhere to the communist practice of aggression. The management of both major parties ought to look at the world-wide picture and determine to nominate and elect those men and women who stand for the good of this Republic which offers the best system of government. We cannot become a nation of peace and love completely until the forces of communism cease their efforts to overwhelm and enslave us.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Labor splits on War: chiefs of four million unionists break with Meany-- Fitzsimmons support of Nixon vietnam policy

WASHINGTON —— One of labor's own intellectuals said the other day that inside the movement "some hard-boiled eggheads are beginning to bounce off the hard hats." That summed it up. A powerful alliance of labor leaders is breaking with that ambulatory stone wall known as AFL-CIO chief George Meany on war and peace.

For the first time in many a wartime there is a strong united front for peace now developing atop the movement. To insiders the implications are significant for many political, industrial and philosophical reasons.

This is the first open revolt of importance inside the AFL-CIO against Meany.

This coalition speaks for the first combination of Teamsters leaders to differ with the brotherhood's chieftain Frank Fitzsimmons.

This is the first philosophical policy alliance between conservative, liberal and left-wing forces in and out of the AFL—CIO and the Teamsters -- uniting such militants as the State County and Municipal Employees leaders Jerry Wurf and Victor Gotbaum; Farm Workers' president Cesar Chavez, Teamsters Western Conference chairman and second vice president Einar Mohn, a strong man, indeed; the avowedly pro-Soviet admirer of Chairman Mao, Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union; Albert Fitzgerald, president, and James Matles, secretary treasurer, an ultra, who lead a once rip-roaring left-wing union known as the United Electrical Workers (independent); Dave Livingston, secretary-treasurer of the Distributive Workers; Jerry Coleman, executive secretary of the United Hatters, which is led by Alex Rose, who directs the balance-of-power New York State Liberal Party; Joe Belsky, president of the Meat Cutters and of course Leonard Woodcock and Emil Mazey, president and secretary-treasurer of the Auto Workers.

They've united into a national "Labor For Peace"committee. And they're preparing to hit the hustings.

Though I've not listed Teamsters' fourth vice president Harold Gibbons in the group above, he's one of the committee's dynamos. The Labor For Peace convention is scheduled to meet in his St. Louis headquarters on June 23 and 24. This will be a delegated conference. Each participant will represent a national, state or local union and pay a $15 registration fee.

Then they'll launch, they say, a network of state and municipal "peace now" organizations. The aim of some participants is to isolate Meany. Others want to demonstrate they disagree with the AFL-CIO president and the Teamsters chief as well. Others such as the unknown Jim Matles and some of Bridges' colleagues believe that the Soviets are the saviors of peace.

Some such as the Auto Workers leaders Mazey and Woodcock -- who will go to Moscow in July -- are old -line Fabian Socialists and pacifists and have opposed all recent conflicts.

There are others, lesser known, who soon enough will spring into labor prominence, who are anti-Communist and pro-peace. Such, for example, as one Murray Finley, little known outside Chicago. He has been vice president of the 270,000-member men's clothing workers union (founded by the late Sidney Hillman). About two months ago word circulated through the labor movement that Finley soon would succeed AFL—CIO Vice President and current Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America veteran President Jacob Potofsky (Hillman's protege) as president in June. So it will be. Finley, too, is in the peace group and he is of the younger breed, albeit a 50-year-old lawyer.

In the peace coalition, which was angered when Meany supported President Nixon's blockade of Hanoi's ports, also are other AFL—CIO national union presidents. Thus for the first time there will be a strong minority to dispute Meany as war and peace spokesman for the 13.5 million-member AFL-CIO.

Analysis of the Labor For Peace founding conference call signers discloses vital presidential campaign trends. Harold Gibbons, one of the trio of labor leaders who flew to Hanoi recently, is head of the Teamster's Central States organization. These states border on Einar Mohn's Western Confernece. Thus the powerful Teamsters' leaders, at least, in virtually half the nation appear to break with the Nixon-Fitzsimmons coalition. The call, signed by Gibbons and Mohn, lashes sharply at President Nixon.

The AFL-CIO leaders appear to be abandoning Hubert Humphrey and rallying to George McGovern – despite Meany's distast for the South Dakotan's foreign policy.

For the moment only common opposition to Mr. Nixon's and Meany's and Fitz's foreign policy binds the Labor For Peace chiefs together. Without this issue they might not have had anything in common. Or, they might tighten up, swing the independent unions into the AFL-CIO and represent a powerful bloc left of Meany's center.

Note well this coming conference. It is led by influential men who lead strong unions with four million members. The drama, though virtually unobserved, is in its implications and not in the imprecations against the war.

Hearnes' Rift With Senate Widens

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A veto of a federal grant of $63,500 for legislative staffing has widened the rift between Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and the Missouri Senate.

"Everything our committee worked on to improve the legislature is now down the drain," Sen. Albert M. Spradling, DCape Girardeau, told The Associated Press. "there's just nothing left."

Spradling is chairman of the Senate Accounts Committee which sought the federal grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to hire Wayne Waldo, former assistant attorney genera, to act as counsel and researcher for Senate committees.

The governor vetoed the grant. He said the proposed $29,000-plus salary for Waldo was out of line and would cause friction with the House, with other legislative employes and with state agencies where salaries are much lower.

If the legislature wanted to hire extra staff, he said, provision should be made to staff House committees as well and salaries should be kept in line with state pay scales.

LT. GOV. BILL MORRIS arrived at the Cape Girardeau Airport this morning to make a campaign swing through Scott County. Those present to meet the candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor were from left, Les Lankford, Scott County committee co-chairman; Ben F. Marshall III, committee finance chairman; Philip Boyer and Pat Fitzgerald, new voter committee; Keith Ziegenhorn, finance committee; Morris; Blair Moran, 10th District coordinator for the Morris campaign; Mary Fitzgerald, new voter committee; and Bill Lewis, Scott County committee co-chairman. Morris campaigned in Illmo-Scott City, New Hamburg, Benton, Chaffee and will attend a reception at the Ramada Inn at 7:30 tonight. The public is invited.

Top Consumer Fraud May Be Government Operations

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Denenberg, the Pennsylvania insurance commissioner, believes that the No. 1 consumer fraud in America is the manner in which government is operated.

Not government itself, mind you. He thinks that will work, given the right people and programs. But he claims government is failing "because the special interest groups are calling the shots."

"Look," he said as he reviewed figures culled from The Statistical Abstract, "government spends more than $300 billion or $1,500 per person each year, more than we pay altogether for food, beverages, clothing, jewelry.

"It takes 13 million employes to spend that money. Why then did it take Ralph Nader instead of the government to spread the word on the problem of automobile safety?"

The views of Denenberg, 42, are worth listening to. He is a lawyer, insurance man, consultant, author, former professor. Even more to the point, he claims the formula for putting government to work is hardly a mystery.

He has in a matter of months, attacked lawyers, doctors, hospitals, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, health insurers, life insurers—all, he says, in the interest of efficiency and consumer welfare, mainly in the form of lower rates.

He forced Blue Cross to cancel its contracts and negotiate new ones aimed at forcing hospitals to seek greater efficiency. He issued guides to show consumers the real rates they paid for insurance. He promoted no-fault auto insurance as good for the public but bad for trial lawyers.

With such an attitude on government's part, he claims, the old-fashioned virtues of thrift, efficiency and responsibility will be instilled in the special interests, with resulting public benefits in better service and lower costs.

When the public recognizes that you mean business they provide more information. They know something will be done, and in so thinking they make your job easier. You reciprocate, always keeping the communications open.

With public support, says Denenberg, "you have strength with the governor, the legislature, the special interest groups. We couldn't take on all this without public support. We'd be wiped out."

But when you have that support, he adds, government works. "It almost scares me how much action you can get."

What's The Law?

Six Wives Can Share In Estate

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

If a man had no objection to having six mothers-in-law, it was perfectly legal in Aba's homeland to have six wives. And that was exactly the number of wives Aba left behind when he took up residence in the United States. But, years later, when Aba died, the administrator of his estate found himself with an unusual problem one morning. Opening his front door, there were Aba's six wives, dressed like they had just stepped out of the Arabian Nights, each demanding one-sixth of Aba's large estate as his widows.

"I'm sorry," apologized the perplexed administrator, "but, in this state, since a man is prohibited from having more than one wife, he can only have one widow. Consequently, you're five too many."

"While we respect your laws," responded the spokeswoman for the small harem, "if you will inspect ours, you will find that we were all legally married to Aba. Consequently, we are, in fact, all his widows and entitled to split up his estate between us."

The administrator, however, refused to make such concession and the determined ladies took their claims to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you allow Aba's wives to split his estate between them even though the law prohibits a man from having more than one wife?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that foreign marriages are recognized in this state so long as they are not against public policy. Since the only question in this case, noted the judge, is the distribution of money and not whether a man can live with more than one woman, public policy would not be affected by permitting Aba's six wives to split up his estate. (Based upon a 1948 California District Court of Appeals Decision)

Bike Safety Rally at Mall

A bicycle safety rally will be held from 10 a.m. to noon tomorrow at Kingsway Plaza Mall.

At 10 a.m. a bicycle decoration contest will be held with children between six to 14 participating. Bicycles in ages six to eight will be judged by the Rev. Coy Presson of the First Nazarene Church and Jimmy Pharris.

Ages nine to 11 will be judged by Larry Kennedy of the Vanduser Baptist Church and Raymond Leible.

Ages 12 to 14 will be judged by the Rev. Manly Luscombe of the Shady Acres Church of Christ and C. D. Alcorn.

There will be three prizes awarded in each age group.

Bicycles will be inspected by the police and a record will be made of the owner's name, address, and the make, size, and serial number of the bike.

A boys and girls bicycle will be given away in a drawing at 11:30 a.m. Winners must have attended a safety lecture and have a safety certificate with them. They must also be between eight and 14.

The American Kennel Club recorded 1,129,200 dogs in 1971, the highest number registered in the organization's history. Poodles ranked as the most popular breed in the U.S.A. for the 12th consecutive year according to the AKC's 1971 pure-bred registration figures. The World Almanac says. There were 256,491 poodles and 111,355 German shepherds registered in 1971.

ALL TEN FOR ONE WEEK are the two sets of twins of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mather, 724 Mimosa. The youngest twins on the first row are Paulette Nadine and Stephen Brian. The older twins are Annette Marie and James Cotton.

Two Sets of Twins In Family 10 This Week

For one week the Robert Mather family at 724 Mimosa has four children all 10.

There are two sets of twins in the family, the first set, Annette Marie and James Cotton, were born May 29, 1961. The second set, Stephen Brian and Paulette Nadine were born May 21, 1962. All four were born in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Their father is a purchasing agent for Noranda Aluminum Inc. in New Madrid and their mother a registered nurse, has started work as the night supervisor at the Dexter Memorial hospital.

There are two other children in the family, Mary Colette, 8, and Jeannette Louise, 7. All six children attend Matthews elementary school.

Mrs. Mather's doctor told her the first time she was going to have twins but the second time she was told she was going to have a large baby.

"I knew better," she said, "I knew if it wasn't twins that it was probably deformed. We were just thankful that they were all right when they were born."

"My husband helped me a lot the first time, but the second time around we had to have household help," she added.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mather come from large families and she says that if she had it to do over she would want it the same way.

Mrs. Mather says that there is a closeness between the twins in each set. If they have something to share they will always share it with their twin first.

The children are separated in classrooms because their parents want them independent and not to become too closely attached.

The three older girls are in Junior Girl Scouts and Jeanette will be in brownies next year. Their mother was a Brownie leader at Matthews elementary school. James is a Webelo.

They plan to spend their two week summer vacation at Holden Beach, N.C.

The family is a branch of the New England Mather family, direct descendants of Richard Cotton and Increase Mather, clergymen in the old North Church in Boston in the 17th and 18th centuries instrumental in destroying witchcraft.

In the past the children have had one big birthday party on a Sunday afternoon with with each child inviting five guests each.

This year the parties are separate. Paulette had a slumber party May 12 and Annette had one last Friday night. The boys will have theirs together tonight with a cookout in the back yard and then bunk in tents.

8 HOMES THAT NEED PAINTING

SIKESTON, MO. — 8 homeowners in this general area will be given the opportunity of having the new Timbertone Woodgrain Alumnimum Siding, made with new Dupont Tedlar Finish, applied to their homes with optional decorative work at a very low cost. This amazing new product has captured the interest of homeowners throughout the United States who are fed up with constant painting and other maintenance costs.

It will last for 40 years and provides insulation summer and winter, as well as fire protection. Our new product can be used over any type of home, including frame, concrete block, stucco, etc. It comes in a choice of colors and is now going to be introduced in your area.

Your home can be a show place in your vicinity, and we will make it worth your while if we use your home. For an appointment, please write, including name, address and phone number to G & F Builders, 108 So. West or call 471-1649. Our representative will call on you without obligation.

THE HOLLY HUNTINGTON LIVING CAMPFIRE site, being constructed on edge of Wappapello Lake near Poplar Bluff, will be completed this summer.

Ann Landers

Go Prepared When Job Hunting

Dear Ann Landers: I work in the personnel office of a small company and am writing in the hope that you will print my letter before graduation. I have some advice for individuals who will be looking for employment. It is amazing how many people come in here ill-prepared. Here are some suggestions which might make the difference between getting the job and not getting it.

1. Bring something to write with -- preferably a pen. If your handwriting is poor, print.

2. Answer all questions to the best of your ability. The firm, no matter how large or small, asks questions for a reason.

3. Have your social security number with you and ---

4. If you are a male, your selective service number.

5. Be able to list the schools you've attended (starting with elementary) and the dates of attendance.

6. Be prepared to trace your employment record, including beginning dates and quitting dates, names of employers, location, positions held and salary.

7. Be prepared to list at least three people (besides employers) who will give character references. Know their addresses and telephone numbers.

I have been in a position to observe a great deal of embarrassment and disappointment because people couldn't meet the simple requirements listed above. The candidate who has to go home and come back with facts and figures is going to lose out to one who has the information at his fingertips. I've observed, too, Ann, that the person who is prepared has an air of confidence that makes a good first impression. -- Gainseville

Dear Gainesville: (What an appropriate signature!) And now I'd like to add a suggestion of my own.

I'm aware that many capable, bright young people wear their hair long, have beards and dress non-establishment. I am also aware that there are laws forbidding discrimination against a job candidate because he has long hair and a beard. But if an employer doesn't like your looks, the chances of being hired are sharply reduced. So if you really want the job, don't apply for it with a chip on your shoulder the size of a gangplank.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm upset and can't think straight. Just say "go" ...or "don't go."

A good friend phones last night to say she and her sister had just finished addressing the invitations to her wedding. They had miscalculated somehow and were six invitations short. She asked if I would feel hurt if I didn't receive a engraved invitation, but a note instead. I said, "Of course not." Now my mother tells me I am crazy -- that I should not go to the wedding because it is plain that my friend considers me less important than the other guests. What do you say? I really want to go, Ann. ---Bon Bon

Dear Bon: I say go. The bride is obviously in a spot and she is counting on her closest friends to understand. Don't let her down.

Confidential to Miserable, Unhappy and Insignificant: Try to be pleasant and uncomplaining. Thirteen is a horrible age for a girl who has a sister sixteen. I promise that life will be brighter when you are sixteen and she is nineteen.

Even if drinking is the "in"thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You -- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper with your request.

G. S. Memorial Almost Completed

A memorial to Holly Huntington is being constructed by her parents Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Huntington of Poplar Bluff at the Girl Scout Camp Latonka on Wappapello Lake.

Miss Huntington was a sophomore at Poplar Bluff high school when she died May 11, 1971 following a brief illness of hepatitis. She was 16 and active in Girl Scouting.

The Holly Huntington Living Memorial Campfire site will be completed for use during the summer session of the camp.

Art Jablonsky of Jefferson City is the architect. The memorial has a gradually elevated semi- circular wall which faces the seating area of concrete construction.

'Perfect Conditions'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Here's good news for weekend holiday fishermen--the State Conservation Department reported today conditions are perfect over almost all of Missouri and the fishing is good to excellent.

AS a special bonus to Memorial Day weekend anglers, the commission has opened the Ozark streams to bass fishing two days earlier than usual. It will be legal to take black bass in this area starting Sunday.

Most farm ponds and community lakes are clear and the fishing is good. The same is true for the state trout parks. Only northwestern Missouri streams remained high and muddy.

Individual stream conditions:

Grand, Platte--Muddy and high, bullhead and channel cat fair.

Nodaway--Muddy and high, channel cat fair.

Chariton--Muddy, all species poor to fair.

Black Wate --Dingy, channel cat fair, flathead catfish good.

Lamine--Dingy and high, all species poor to fair.

Mississippi--Lower river muddy and falling; backwaters excellent. Middle river, crappie, drum and channel cat fair, upper river muddy and high, all species poor.

Missouri--Channel cat and flathead fair on set lines.

Salt--Clear, channel cat good on worms and set lines.

Cuivre--Clear, channel cat, crappie and white bass good on lower end.

Pomme de Terre--Clear, upper river channel cat fair, bluegill, green sunfish good, remainder all species fair.

Osage--Clear, upper river all species fair. Lower river catfish fair.

Gasconade--Clear, channel cat fair, goggle-eye good.

Big Niangua and Meramec-Clear, goggle-eye fair to good.

Big River--Upper river clear, lower dingy, goggle-eye fair, channel cat good on lower end.

Big Piney--Clear, goggle-eye fair to good.

Current--Clear, all species fair to good.

Eleven Point--Clear, goggleeye fair, trout good.

Jacks Fork--Clear, goggle-eye fair.

Black--Clear, panfish good, upper river goggle-eye fair to good.

St. Francis--Clear, trotline fishing fair, drum and panfish good.

Castor--Clear, suffish good.

James--Dingy, channel cat fair, bass and goggle-eye good.

Elk--Clear, channel cat fair to good, goggle-eye and bass good.

Individual lake conditions:

Bull Shoals — Clear, all species fair to good.

Taneycomo — Clear, bluegill on Bull Creek fair, trout fair to good and black bass on Bull Creek good.

Table Rock — Clear, bass, white bass and crappie fair, bluegill good.

Clearwater — Clear, crappie good at night, channel cat good on trotline.

Wappapello — Clear, trotline fishing fair, bluegill, bass good with topwater lures and worm.

Little Dixie — Dingy, crappie good.

Duck Creek — Clear, bass fair, bluegill good.

10 State Records Expected To Fall

Every fisherman dreams of catching at least one lunker. This spring, summer and fall it is estimated more than 20,000 lunker bass (fish weighing over four pounds) will be caught in Ozark impoundments, streams and farm ponds. Of these, at least 10 will be state record breakers, but they willl not be recognized in the state fishing records because they will be taken home, mounted or eaten without being verified by state conservation agents or state officials.

If you should happen to land what you think is record- breaking fish, the best thing to do is have it weighted at the boatdock before at least two reliable witnesses, one of whom should be the county conservation agent, if he is available.

300,000 Expected At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — If anything - anything at all - goes wrong at the 500 mile race, Jo Quinn has to try to make it come out right.

But Jo combines a bawdy sense of humor - quips jump like popcorn from his pinkcheeked face - with an innate ability to handle crowds and crises.

As safety director of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, he is lord of the 555½ acre manor which once a year turns madhouse when an estimated 300,000 auto racing buffs swarm in for the 500.

The 68-year-old, balding, brawny official is in charge of rescuing drivers from wrecked machines, drying out drunks, running out girls peddling sex, corraling 4,537 high school bandsmen and creating order out of chaos as enough people to populate Tucson, Ariz., converge for the U. S. Auto Club classic and the pre-race festivities.

Quinn has been at the job for 27 years. He works from a cluttered office in a little white clapboard building just inside the main gate, issuing parking stickers, signing letters, talking on the telephone to people like the lieutenant governor, a country school teacher and the accompanist for Jim Nabors, who will sing "Back Home Again in Indiana" before the race.

Two days before the race, Jo was at work in his sweltering office- no air conditioning, windows closed- without sweating while wearing a pocketed, red quilted, down - filled vest he affectionately calls his traveling secretary.

"I had four coronaries so I take blood thinners and my blood was already thin," he explained.

Quinn is assisted by a group of top aides he calls "the dirty dozen," 2,600 yellow-shirted officers known as the safety patrol, and a fire emergency unit.

That's inside the track.

Surrounding it tonight and Saturday will be 250 city policemen, 300 state troopers, 75 speedway policemen and 100 deputy sheriffs.

"I have a peculiar philosophy," he said, sitting back in his chair, crossing his legs to reveal black and white checkered socks to match his bowtie. "I always say, 'It sure is nice to be wonderful, but it's a helluva lot more wonderful to be nice.'"

On hand will be 18 wreckers, 16 ambulances, a fire rescue squad, a hospital 2½ times bigger than last year, a special hydraulic lift to remove wrecked cars quickly from the 2½ mile oval and two hilecopters to transport any badly injured driver to a nearby hospital in a hurry.

MIKE MEDLOCK was the only Charleston high school baseball player to be named to the SEMO conference all league team. Medlock was named the second team catcher.

Indianapolis 500...

By BILL BRODRICK

INDIANAPOLIS — Indianapolis, tomorrow is a two-and-a-half- mile strip of asphalt on the west side of town that ends right where it starts.

Indianapolis is "The Brickyard", the "World's Greatest Race Course", "Indy", or you can just call it "The Speedway" and everybody knows what you're talking about.

Indianapolis is a shrine to American racing. It's steel and mortar and asphalt, but it has a soul and the 500- mile race is what makes it live.

Indianapolis is the beginning for some and the end for others. It's a seven- year- old's future and a 70- year- old's past.

Indianapolis is a white shirt and tie in the $50 penthouse seats and denim shorts and tee shirt in the $5 infield.

Indianapolis is sound and silence. A thousand cheers for the winner and an afterthought for the losers.

Indianapolis is tradition found in ramshackle old buildings of Gasoline Alley and modern steel and glass of the Pagoda.

Indianapolis is pretty girls and ugly mechanics. It's powder and grease. It's the smell of perfume and gasoline. It's lovely blue eyes and eyes red from lack of sleep.

Indianapolis is a handful of decals and an autograph scribbled on the back of a program.

Indianapolis is a lost child, a lost car, a lost beer cooler, a lost ticket stub. It's forgotten suntan lotion, forgotten binoculars and a forgottenwife.

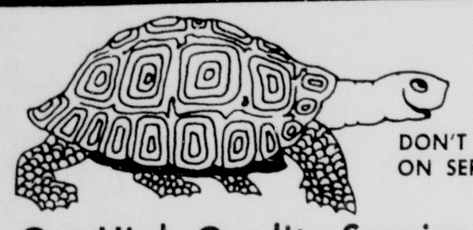

Indianapolis is the expert and the rookie, both in the stands and on the track. The big name and the what's his-name. It's a man forced to retire and a youngster eager to get going.

Indianapolis is a silver badge that gets you anywhere and a rip in the pants from trying to sneak in that gets you a whipping.

Indianapolis is a parade lap, a victory lap, and 200 laps in between.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson has won 207 major league games, Marty Pattin 40 and Skip Lockwood 16, but they all have one thing in common—each picked up his first 1972 victory Thursday.

"I didn't figure I was going to go all season without winning," said Gibson, 1-5, after scattering seven hits as the St. Louis Cardinals stopped Pittsburgh's nine-game winning streak 4-2.

"That takes the pressure off," said Pattin, 1-5, who allowed only four hits, struck out nine and was aided by a triple play in pitching the Boston Red Sox over Baltimore 2-1.

"They popped up on good pitches and bad," said Lockwood, 1-4, who hurled a six-hitter and outdueled Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Tigers 2-0.

In Thursday's only other games, the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 on Willie Mays' 14th-inning single, the New York Yankees shaded Cleveland 2-0, Minnesota nipped Texas 6-5 and Kansas City beat California 5-2.

Gibson's fast ball was in good form and he struck out 10 Pirates, getting Richie Hebner three times although the Pittsburgh third baseman homered in the sixth. By then, Gibson had a 3-1 lead with Ted Sizemore belting his first home run of the season and Lou Brock scoring twice—in the first on Matty Alou's single and in the third on a double play grounder.

"I feel the same as I always do," said the 36-year-old righthander. "When I win, I love it; when I lose, I'm mad. My control was a little better, but I've been throwing the same way the last four or five games."

Pattin fell behind the Orioles 1-0 in the second inning when Don Baylor cracked his fifth home run. But the Rd Sox tied it quickly in the third on Tommy Harper's double and Luis Aparicio's single off Pat Dobson. Aparicio then came around with the winning run on a stolen base, flying ball and Ellie Hendricks' passed ball.

"It's tough every time you go out there," sighed Pattin. "You just have to cope witl it, concentrate, relax and throw the way you know how ... I've been down before and it's no fun, I'll tell you that."

What was fun was the triple play, which took Pattin out of trouble in the fourth inning. With runners at first and second, Hendricks lined to first baseman Duane Josephson, who stepped on the bag for the second out and threw to shortstop Aparicio to nail Terry Crowley trying to get back to second.

The Brewers struck suddenly in the fourth inning against Lolich, one of two eight-game winners in the majors. Mike Ferraro opened with a double, one of his three hits, and Ellie Rodriguez slammed his first home run of the season into the upper left field stands at Tiger Stadium.

Lockwood didn't walk anyone in his shutout and manager Dave Bristol called it "definitely the best game he's pitched since he's been here."

The contest was enlivened by a brief scrap in the ninth inning after Milwaukee's Billy Conigliaro bunted and Detroit reliever Phil Meeler ran into him while making the tag on a close play at first base. Conigliaro was ejected.

Mays' game-winning two-out single broke the Mets' twogame losing streak and was the 41-year-old super star's third decisive hit since returning to New York two weeks ago.

Chicago's Bill Hands was staked to a two-run lead in the sixth on Carmen Fanzone's double. But he developed a blister on his pitching hand and the Mets tied it against Tom Phoebus on Duffy Dyer's homer i the eighth and rusty Staub's double and Cleon Jones' single in the ninth.

Fritz Peterson, who lost his first six starts made it two triumphs in a row by blanking Cleveland on seven hits as the Yankees won for the eighth time in their last 11 games. They scored off Dick Tidrow in the sixth inning when Bobby Murcer singled and Roy White homered.

Rod Carew squeezed home Cesar Tovar, who had doubled and moved to third on Danny Thompson's sacrifice, with the winning run in the seventh inning as the Twins edged the Rangers, who had beaten them four straight in Texas over the weekend.

Lenny Randle's homer helped the Rangers to a 3-0 lead against Jim perry but the Twins chased Pete Broberg and took a 5-3 lead in the sixth, with Bobby Darwin, Eric Soderholm and Steve Braun delivering run-scoring hits.

Richie Scheinblum doubled home a first-inning run and scored on Cookie Rojas' single and Paul Schaal homered in the third as the Royals downed the Angels behind the six-hit pitching of Paul Splittorff and Roger Nelson.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL PICK-OFF PLAY brought Hart Standards' Jim Saulters sliding back into first base in Wednesday's Senior Babe Ruth contest between Harts Standard and Leible Implement. Leible's first baseman Rick Spears, hauls in the late throw from Leible's pitcher Mitchell Walker.

HARTS STANDARDS' Paul HeWitt, left, and Phil Puckett, right, round third base and head home for scores in Wednesday's Senior Babe Ruth opener. HeWitt and Puckett both singled. Teammate Hesselrode doubled the two runs home in Hart's 5-1 win over Leible Implement. Catching for Leible Implement, was John Leible.

Horse Show Set

PORTAGEVILLE — World champion potential will be in competition in the 15th annual Kiwanis Charity horse s..ow June 22, Chairman J.D. Stafford said in announcing the program.

"Each year, Stafford said, "some of the entries in the Portageville show have gone on to place not lower than fifth in world competition."

Two new classes, roadster to bike ponies and ladies on walking horses, have been added for a 12-class show.

Presentation of the American flag opens the program at 8 p.m. at the Reaves Athletic Field , followed by Bill Brown singing the national anthem.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. Fr. Amel Shibley. Mayor Roy Moore will make welcoming remarks. June C. Ransburgh will serve as ringmaster, Cuz Moreland, announcer, Roger Alexander of Union City, Tenn., organist, Jack Warren of Spring Hill, Tenn., judge; and Nicky Forrester of Fulton, Ky., farrier.

In observance of the city's centennial celebration Stafford said Kiwanis members and ribbon girls will dress in period costumes.

Frazer Defends Title With Ko

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier proved Thursday night he also deserved the nickname "Butcher" just as much as battered and vanquished challenger Ron Stander.

Unbeaten Frazier retained his world title by stopping a game, but bloodied Stander in a bout that will go into the record books as a fifth-round knockout.

After an even first round, Frazier battered the 27-year-old unranked Stander, who was dubbed the "Bluffs Butcher," with a savage body attack and turned his face into a bloody mask.

"He was surely a game puncher," offered the unscarred Frazier after his fourth successful title defense. The victory boosted his pro record to 290 including 25 knockout victories.

Stander, a local favorite from nearby Council Bluffs, Iowa, came out aggressively and slugged with the champion on even terms in the opening round.

Referee Zach Clayton of Philadelphia, who summoned the doctor that stopped the fight, and the two judges called the first round even, but thereafter Frazier's speed told.

The champion began to score heavily to the body in the second round, bloodied Stander in the third and then reeled him a couple of times in a slugfest fourth round.

"Those cuts were getting deeper and deeper, there was no doubt about stopping it," said ring doctor Jack Lewis of Omaha. "There was no objection from the Stander corner."

NBA Reigns Supreme

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — "The National Basketball Association Players' Association has decided that if anyone is suspended or fined, all the players will quit," said burly Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons.

"That's proably true," said Dave DeBusschere of the New York Knicks, "but I don't know that for a complete fact. But that would be the logical thing to say. If they suspend one of us, they might as well suspend all of us."

They made their comments Thursday night, after the NBA All-Stars, playing under the threat of fines or suspensions from Commissioner Walter J. Kennedy, had overcome a 19point deficit and edged the American Basketball Association's best players 106-104 at the Nassau Coliseum.

Kennedy had strongly warned the NBA players that they would be subject to fines, the minimum of which would be the amount they received for playing in the game. For beating the ABA for the second year in a row, the NBA players earned a total of $33,000, or $3,000 per player.

The ABA All-Stars, whose owners and Commissioner Jack Dolph had endorsed the game, split a total of $17,000.

"I wasn't really bothered by the threat, but apparently some players were," said Lanier, voted the game's Most Valuable Player after sparking the NBA's comeback with 15 points and seven rebounds.

Of the original group picked to represent the NBA, there were three defections—Milwaukee center Kareem AbdulJabbar, the league's Most Valuable Player and leading scorer each of the past two seasons; and All-Star guards Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers and Walt Frazier of the Knicks.

Frazier was a surprise absentee. He did not even inform game officials that he would not play.

"The fans got their money's worth," said former Lakers" star Elgin Baylor, who made his coaching debut as head of the NBA club. "It was a good show."

The young ABA, seeking to avenge last year's 125-120 loss in the first meeting between the leagues, burst to a 49-30 lead midway through the second quarter. But the NBA All-Stars reeled off 15 consecutive points, six by Baltimore's Archie Clark.

The game remained close until halfway through the third period, when the NBA went ahead to stay 75-74 on a jump shot by Boston's John Havlicek. With Lanier and Havlicek leading the offense, the NBA increased its lead to 95-87 in the fourth quarter.

The ABA then surged back, closing to 105-104 on a threepoint field goal by Rick Barry of the New York Nets in the closing seconds. But Clark closed out the scoring with a free throw with four seconds left.

Havlicek wound up as the game's high scorer with 17 points. Donnie Freeman of Dallas paced the ABA with 16.

BUS MINISTRY PLANS of First Baptist Church in Portageville are discussed by the pastor, the Rev. Richard Adams, left, his son Mike, a teen helper on the bus, and the driver, Rudy Latta.

From 221 To 448

Bus Ministry Doubles Attendance In 8 Weeks

PORTAGEVILLE -- An expanded bus ministry has contributed to a rapid increase in attendance at First Baptist Church by more than doubling the number in Sunday School in an eight-week period.

Sunday School attendance averaged 230 during 1971. On February 20 of this year the attendance was 221. The church was running one bus at that time, which picked up about 20 riders. A second bus was purchased and put in operation the following week. The attendance on Feb. 27 increased to 240. By the end of March attendance had grown to 367 with 94 coming on the two buses.

Bus number three was added the first Sunday in April, and attendance increased to 386 with 112 coming on the buses. A record attendance was reached on April 9 with 448 in Sunday School, including 157 on the buses. The church has since added a fourth bus, and the largest number riding buses on a single Sunday has been 180 on May 14.

Of the results of the expanded bus program, the Rev. Richard Adams, pastor, says, "The greatest response to the bus ministry has been from children ranging from four- year- olds through ninth graders. These are persons who have not been attending Sunday School or church anywhere. Our policy is that we will not invite people to come who are already attending church, and we stress this policy with our workers."

A 42- mile radius is covered by the four bus routes, being eight miles each to the north and south, and 13 miles each to the east and west of Portageville, including all side roads in the area. Buses depart at 8 a.m. and return at 9:30 a.m., ten minutes before Sunday School starts.

Weekly costs for the four-bus operation is about $96. This is for gas, oil and minor repair parts. In addition, many volunteer man hours are given in maintenance, planning and operations.

Volunteers meet each Thursday night to make minor repairs and have been recovering and repairing seats.

Operating somewhat like an airline service, personnel — in addition to a driver — include a bus captain, a minimum of two teen-age helpers and stewardesses.

Before starting on a route, the driver runs the engine for 15 minutes to be certain it is operating properly and completes a safety check of brakes, lights, windshield wipers and other equipment.

A captain is responsible for the safety of passengers. He supervises loading and unloading. He also directs a planned program of singing, Bible quizzes and discussions while the bus is en route.

A captain is required to attend a 45- minute planning session each Saturday morning. On Saturday afternoons he visits each home on his route, as well as house to house visitation in a new area.

Teen helpers are responsible for keeping buses clean and assist the captain with the programs.

After passengers are seated, stewardesses serve refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies in winter months or cold kool-aid in hot months.

A Bible day was held on the bus after it was learned most of the children did not have a Bible, and each child who rode was presented one. Two members donated money to buy 200 Bibles.

From the bus ministry, a children's church has evolved which averages 112 in attendance. One man, two women and a teenage pianist conduct services for ages four through third grade, geared to their level of understanding. The services are separate from the adult worship services which are held at the same time.

Personnel in the bus ministry are Rudy Latta, Gary Baker, Bill Henderson and Roy Hinton, drivers; Dudley Cryer, Charles Meadows, Sonny Hughes and the Rev. Adams, captains; and Mike Adams, Bruce Gremard, Gayla Stevens, Myra Estes, Ricky Mangrum, Trennis Henderson, Timmy Latta, Steve Harmon and Craig Hinton, teen helpers.

The Rev. Mr. Adams has been pastor since April 20, 1969.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. William H. Tatt

FOR MAY 28, 1972

Scripture: Colossians 3:1-17; I Peter 4:12-19; Revelation 2:1-7; 3:14-22

THE CHURCH'S NEED FOR RENEWAL

Americans continue to seek something new in their lives. For this reason, they turn daily to their newspapers, magazines, radios and television sets to see what's new.

The church faces another assignment. It must instill among its members the need to keep up their enthusiasm for an organization that survives because its principles don't change day to day.

The importance of reviewing the Ten Commandments can not be overstressed. All one needs to do is to read the regular statistical reports of the FBI and other crime-fighting agencies.

Thus the need to resist evil becomes more acute in our society. The need to grow in the Christian graces also becomes more difficult.

And churches are facing problems from within. Church school attendance has dropped in many communities. Church members argue over the degree of their group's "involvement" in social and political issues.

Others debate the division of funds in the budget: How much should be spent in the local church and how much should be used for outside purposes.

Many of the larger denominations have seen their membership decline. At the same time, the smaller evangelical groups are growing. Some of the problems are similar to those Paul wrote about in Colossians.

Paul offered a prescription for the salvation of the church. He wrote from prison to a newly-established church. In reading his comments the church member should ask himself: How much of this applies to me and to my church?

There is always a place for a spiritual inventory in our lives. We must be willing to accept reproof and discipline and we must be on guard against self-satisfaction.

Paul informed us that in baptism the "old man," a sinful person, dies as in him Christ is born anew. A new life follows this incident. The person, however, must discard the sins of the flesh and the world.

Warnings were voiced by Paul against these sins that included anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, and foul talk. Today we are warned about similar sins.

Yet if we accept Christ and keep His faith we renounce these sins. Since this is difficult, we must undergo renewal from time to time.

Renewal means to make new again, to restore, or to make like new. John Dewey said, "the chief danger of religion lies in the fact that it has become so respectable. It has become largely a sanction of what socially exists--a kind of gloss upon institutions and conventions. Primitive Christianity was devastating in its claims."

Many would challenge these comments yet at the same time they would recognize the need to keep the church relevant with the times.

George Bernard Shaw would agree with Paul. Shaw commented that "The best reformers the world has ever seen are those who commence on themselves."

We are not to avoid criticism of the church. But we should be willing to help in its renewal, first offering ourselves for renewal. Criticism should be viewed as a challenge. Is the church still teaching God's message?

(Based on outlines prepared by the Department of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.)

Parents are people who watch the no-nos while the kids listen to the program with earphones in their own rooms.

R.L. Robinson New Pastor At Hayti

HAYTI — The Rev. R. L. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Robinson who live near Poplar Bluff, is the new minister at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson attended Poplar Bluff High School, Soutehast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau and Central Baptist Seminary in Kansas City, Kan.

He taught school for five years and has served churches throughout Missouri 24 years.

He moved to Hayti from Chaffee, where he was pastor of the First Baptist Church.

He and his wife, the former Virginia VanDyke of Poplar Bluff, have three sons, Ron, a medical student at St. Louis University; Dan, a student at Southeast Missouri State College; and John, who is in grade school.

Tallapoosa VBS Set

TALLAPOOSA -- The Baptist Church will hold its Vacation Bible School Monday through Friday from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Enrollment will be taken Saturday at 3 p.m. in the church.

Mrs. Gene Lancaster is principal. Other faculty members are Jo Carlisle, Janie Landers, Mrs. Carl Rogers, Corliss Rogers, Mrs. W. M. Fortner, Mrs. Dorthy Mims, Mrs. Hugh Landers, Mrs. Willie Weldon, Mrs. Rayvon Knapp, Jane Landers and Pam Cunningham.

Teen College for Christ will begin July 10.

Church Honors Worker

GIDEON — A surprise dinner honored John Gifford for 31 years as Sunday School superintendent at the First Baptist Church.

He has served several years as Training Union director and Sunday School superintendent of Black River Association.

Gifford was presented a plaque by Robert Herring, and Mrs. Betty Dockins presented Mrs. Gifford a corsage from the young married women's class of the Sunday School. Mrs. Gifford is teacher of the class.

Festival Plans Revealed

BRIDGETON -- Missouri Baptist Children's Home will celebrate its 81st annual Strawberry Festival on June 3 at the main campus.

The Missouri Music Men, a group of music directors from churches all over the state will sing. More than 30 of these musicians are scheduled to perform in the main feature of the program at 2 p.m.

Other interests of the day are hundreds of homemade cakes, strawberries and ice cream, which will be served to the thousands who will attend the event. All types and styles of needlepoint, artwork and handcraft will also be on display and for purchase.

Presbytery Picks Name

DENVER (AP) — A new name for a recently enlarged midwestern unit of the United Presbyterian Church is now official — the "presbytery of Elijah Parish Lovejoy."

The name honors the memory of a minister-editor martyred more than a century ago in Alton, Ill., in the cause of the abolit ion of slavery and a free press.

Confirmation of the designation of the presbytery, centered around St. Louis and now including 101 congregations in parts of three states, came late Monday at the denomination's governing assembly.

The newly formed presbytery had picked the name of Lovejoy, a Presbyterian minister and editor shot to death by a mob in Alton on Nov. 7, 1837 for his opposition to slavery.

His "name stood out above all others in its significance" to the church and to the "cause of freedom and justice in this area and the nation," said a presbytery committee.

A pioneer in the "cause of freedom," Abraham Lincoln had called him, destined for a "martyr's crown."

He had started his paper, the Observer, in St. Louis, but after raids on it there, moved it to Alton, where his press was wrecked three times before the final mob attack in which he was killed.

A monument was erected to him in Alton. His brother had worked as a printer on the Alton Evening Telegraph, which had supported Lovejoy to some extent. A yoke of his hand press stands in the lobby of the Alton paper.

The recently enlarged presbytery was formed through combination of the former Presbytery of Alton, including 21 Illinois congregations, and the former Southeast Missouri Presbytery, including 80 congregations in Missouri and northern Arkansas.

Ministers Organize Conference

DEXTER — Ministers of Southern Baptist churches in Cane Creek- Stoddard Baptist Association met recently at a luncheon in the First Baptist Church to discuss organizaing a minister's conferce.

Officers elected were: Harold Belcher, Powe Church, president; Frank Breithaupt, Second Church, Poplar Bluff, vice - president; Ferrell Morgan, First Church, Advance, secretary - treasurer; and Ervin Keathley, First Church, Poplar Bluff, song leader.

Others present for the meeting were Marshal Dark, First Church, Dexter; Tom Fortner, Bell City Mission; Eugene Hale, Memorial Church, Poplar Bluff; Don Young, West Side Church, Dexter; Charles Hanna, First Church, Bloomfield; and Grover Kagy, director of missions, Cane Creek - Stoddard Association, with offices in Dexter.

The ministers' conference has the following purposes: fellowship and training and spiritual growth. One of the main objectives is relating to the spiritual and physical needs of the communities in which the churches are located.

There are 42 churches and two missions with a total membership of 9,406 in the association.

Parade To Open July 4 Celebration

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Ron Kokorudz, publicity chairman, announced today that the Cape Girardeau Jaycees will kick off their annual 4th of July celebration with a parade starting in Capaha Park July 1 at 10 a.m.

The parade will be routed from the Park eastward on Broadway, to Main, southward on Main and terminating in the parking lot on South Main.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will be parade marshal. Entries include The Bellettes, a precision all girl drum and bugle corps from Belleville, Ill., the Cape Municipal Band, the Blytheville Air Force base color guard and the Marine corps band from Millington, Tenn.

The Jaycees request all interested in entering the parade to contact Parade Chairman David Hahs, c/o Cape Girardeau Jaycees P. O. Box 4, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701.

Entrants will be contacted upon acceptance of entry. Deadline for entries will be June 15.

Heart Patient Care Course To Be Offered

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Cardiac Care Missouri, a project of the Missouri Heart Association in cooperation with the Missouri Regional Medical Program to lower the death rate from heart attacks in Southeast Missouri, will present the first of a series of programs to train persons to become instructors in cardiopulmonary resuscitation Wednesday.

The Cardiac Care Missouri project will train instructors, who will train people to administer cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Participating in the first class will be Dr. C. R. Talbert, Jr., who will discuss the history of cardiopulmonary resuscitation and the anatomy of sudden death. William Rader will discuss the legal aspects involved in resuscitation. Dr. William K. Bowman, a cardiologist, will be available to answer questions.

Serving as Instructors for the course will be Don Rouse of the Cape County Private Ambulance Service, Bill Adams of the Missouri State Highway Patrol; and Mrs. Karen S. Hendrickson,, registered nurse, assistant project director of Cardiac Care Missouri.

Three Rivers New Term Begins June 1

POPLAR BLUFF — The summer session of Three Rivers Community College will begin June 1.

Twenty- six courses are offered for the day program and five for the night school.

Orientation and testing of new students are scheduled for 9 a.m. June 1. Registration for the night school will begin at 6:30 p.m. the same day.

Registration for the day program will take place June 2 from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Classwork in the day program will begin at 8 a.m. June 5. Night school classwork will begin at 6:30 p.m. the same day.

The summer session will close with final examinations in the day program on July 28 and in the night program on the last scheduled night of the class.

College To Be Test Center

POPLAR BLUFF — A program of educational service will be undertaken by Three Rivers Community college this summer. The college has been approved by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., to serve as an open test center under the college level examination program.

The program is intended to permit veterans and other adults who have been out of high school for at least one year and desire to resume their education to earn college credits by making a test score equal to that required for passage from a freshman to a sophomore class in college.

At TRCC three college hours of credit will be allowed under the general examination program in social science, history, biological science, physical science, fine arts, literature, mathematics and English composition up to a maximum of 12 hours.

Politicking Can Cost Election Judge His Vote

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth held today an election has held or challenger convicted of electioneering in a polling place loses his right to vote unless he gets a full pardon restoring his voting rights.

At the same time, Danforth said an election judge who serves without being qualified under the law commits no criminal offense.

The opinion was requested by Gen. F. Pyle, Jasper County prosecuting attorney.

In another opinion for Robert E. Meyers of Rolla, state land surveyor, the attorney general said a county surveyor who is not a registered land surveyor can appoint a deputy who is a registered surveyor to do the work.

Meyers reported there are 71 county surveyors in Missouri and 15 of them are not registered land surveyors under a 1969 law.

Building At Charleston Razed In $64,000 Fire

50 Years Ago
May 26, 1922

Miss Ruth Allard will leave Sunday to attend summer school in Springfield, Ill.

Miss Fleta Jo Kaiser leaves Sunday for Cape Girardeau, where she will attend school this summer.

Misses Mary Ethel Prow and Ruth Baker of Memphis spent Tuesday in Charleston as the guests of Miss Helen Chapman.

Dixie Fox, who has been attending school in Cape Girardeau, is expected home Friday. Miss Dixie will return again to take up the summer course there.

40 Years Ago
May 26, 1932

Charleston--A low estimate of $64,000 was placed as the loss when fires of undertermined origin Thursday night destroyed the W. C. Bryant building and stock and equipment of three business firms occupying it. The loss is partically covered by insurance. The lower floor of the building was occupied by the J. J. Blumm store, T. B. Hearne's grocery store and the R. M. Fish shoe repair shop.

Sikeston High School graduates were delightfully entertained with a theatre party given by the Malone Theatre Sunday.

John Sells and Ellis Reed, teachers, went last weekend to Jonesboro, Ark., where they enrolled in the A. & M. College for the summer term.

A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the barn on the farm belonging to Elmer Grant Monday. The extent of the damage has not as yet been estimated.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albright of Morehouse Friday, a son. Mrs. Albright, before her marriage was Miss Vera Jones of this city.

Morley--Lum Miller has been very sick the past week.

30 Years Ago

DAVID GILLILAND, Sikeston, was one of four Boy Scouts attaining the rank of Eagle Tuesday night. From left, Walter Hedrick, council advancement chairman; Gilliland, Judge Marshal Craig, board of review chairman, and George Hale, board of review member.

Gilliland Eagle Scout

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Judge Marshall Craig, Sikeston, of the Southeast Missouri Council Eagle Board of Review, announced Boy Scouts who passed the Council Board of Review Tuesday, at the Colonial Restaurant for scouting's highest rank of Eagle:

William S. Latimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Latimer and Randy G. Seabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Seabaugh, both of Troop 311, Jackson; Michael A. Rosenthal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kuehle, troop two, Cape Girardeau; and David E. Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gilliland, troop 59, Sikeston.

Members of the Board of Review were Carlton Meyer, Terry Tomko, Bob Adams, Jackson; Ed Hilpert, Jerry Beckner, Council Scout Executive, Cape Girardeau; Walter Hedrick, George Hale, Judge Marshall Craig, Board of Review Chairman, Sikeston; and Roger Kearbey, Staff Advisor, Poplar Bluff.

Eagle candidates were guests of the Eagle board at dinner.

Aufdenberg Buys Firm

NEW MADRID — New Madrid Tractor and Implement Company, a John Deere dealership, has been sold to Gene Aufdenberg of Sikeston by H. C. Ransburgh and Sam Purser.

The firm was established in 1942 by the late Albert Ransburgh.

Employes remaining with the firm are Connie Clowers, bookkeeper; Albert Edwards, parts manager; Albert Purser, assistant parts manager; Pete Vent, shop foreman; James L. Yarbro, mechanic; Chester Robinson, mechanic; Wesley Strickland, set-up man; and Earl Montgomery, truck driver.

Aufdenberg owns and operates Aufdenberg Equipment Company in Sikeston.

Disposal Of Trash Pondered

SCOTT CITY — Residents questioned the City Council on the trash hauling ordinance and the possibilities of a trash burning ordinance Monday night.

Jack Holder, owner of a trash hauling service, discussed the ordinance on trash and refuse hauling with the council and was told it would be taken under advisement.

Residents of Sneed's Trailer Court discussed trash burning with the council. Discussion was tabled until an ordinance can be prepared.

In other business, the council:

Agreed to open in the road right of way a section of Seventh street to the property of Fred Cook.

Agreed to blade- mix Jettie May drive as soon as possible in response to James McKane's request for roadrepairs.

Approved a request from city collector, Mrs. Eloise Bollinger, that her vacation be set for June 18-25.

Asked the city clerk to set up a date with Dr. V. E. Owens, veterinarian, for vaccination and registration of dogs.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

"It would be well for him to have a millstone hung round his neck and be tossed into the sea, rather than prove a hindrance to one of these little ones!" (Luke , 17:2, Moffatt)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, guide, direct, and lead us in paths that will make us able to serve Thee and our neighbors as we ought. Amen.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 26, the 147th day of 1972. There are 219 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1868, an attempt to impeach President Andrew Johnson was defeated in the Senate by one vote.

On this date:

In 1790, Tennessee was organized as a territory.

In 1805, Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned king of Italy.

In 1864, the Montana Territory was organized.

In 1942, during World War II, German forces began their drives for Stalingrad and the Caucasus.

Also in 1942, Radio Tokyo boasted of war victories and said: "The Japanese people can look forward to a triumphal march into London and a victory march into New York."

In 1954, the funeral ship of the Egyptian pharaoh, Cheops, was discovered in Egypt.

Ten years ago: European extremists in Algiers bombed and burned out 18 elementary school buildings.

Five years ago: The Pentagon conceded that a U.S. Navy plane may have crossed into Communist China by mistake during a bombing mission in North Vietnam.

One year ago: A farm labor contractor, Juan Corona, was arrested after bodies of a number of men were found buried in orchards at Yuba City, Calif.

Today's birthdays: Actor John Wayne is 64. Chairman Laurance S. Rockefeller of the Citizen's Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality is 62.

Man Fined On Two Of Five Charges

BLOOMFIELD — Clay Wilfong Jr., 54, of St. Louis, appeared before Judge Koss Blomeyer Thursday in Stoddare County Magistrate Court on charges of writing a forged check, leaving the scene of an accident, stealing and tampering with an auto, driving while intoxicated and having no operator's license.

Wilfong pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated.

Hearing on the forgery charge, dating back to 1968, was continued to June 8.

Wilfong was fined $100 and costs for driving while intoxicated or 60 days in jail, and fined $10 and $12.10 court costs for having no operator's license. He was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court for leaving the scene of an accident and stealing and tampering with a motor vehicle.

Wilfong was arrested May 4 on route H south of Dexter by Sgt. Joe Matthews of the Missouri Highway Patrol after the 1972 Pontiac which Wilfong was driving and accused of stealing struck the rear of a pickup truck driven by Paul Morgan, 22, of Bernie on Highway 25, four miles south of Dexter. The Morgan vehicle then struck the rear of a car driven by Lowell Wayne Shelby, 19, of Parma. The cars were stopped during one way traffic because of road construction.

Matthews testified that he observed the Pontiac headed south with a damaged front and steam rising from the radiator. He was stopped by the patrolman after traveling one half mile.

Matthews described Wilfong as being unable to stand without leaning on the car, flushed and nervous. Wilfong was taken to Stoddard County jail by trooper Larry Thompson.

Preliminary hearing for Paul Miller and Lonnie Reed on charges of stealing chemicals, saws and drills from the Alvey Wallace farm, Catron, May 9 was continued to June 8.

Billy Ray Baker was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court for charges of burglary and stealing $17.75 on May 7 from the Patrick Feed Store of Bloomfield.

Merl Eugene Inman was fined $10 and $12.10 court costs for having no operator's license and $100 and $14.90 costs for driving while intoxicated.

James Delmer Lamastus and George Eldon Waggoner, charged with careless and imprudent driving and being involved in an accident, were each fined $15 and $12.10 costs.

Aaron Nimrod Hendley pleaded innocent to charges of careless and imprudent driving and being involved in an accident. Trial was set for June 8.

Clarence Cecil waived preliminary hearing on charges of a no funds check and was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court.

Hearing for Gene Edward Mekan on charges of driving in excess of 100 m.p.h. in a 65 m.p.h. zone, driving while license suspended and failing to yield to red light and siren was continued to June 15.

Roy Lee Higgins was given a 90-day paroled sentence and payment of $20.50 court costs on condition of good behavior for charges of possessing a motor vehicle with original manufacturer's number removed. He was fined $10 and $12.10 costs on each of the two charges of improper registration and no operator's license.

Fines and court costs of $12.10 were levied against

DEXTER — John M. Wickham, contractor of Bunker, was low bidder Thursday night at city council meeting for a city sewage treatment system.

Bids were opened by Terry Howes of C. R. Trotter and Associates, Inc. Wickham's low bid of $122,030.90 compared with engineers' estimate of $126,284.

Two other companies bidding were Quadri Contractors Inc. of Perryville, at $162,663.50, and J. W. Githens Company of Poplar Bluff at $166,761.80.

Major items in the project will be a 40- acre- four - cell lagoon with access road, inlet and outlet structures, fencing, drainage structures, slope protection and a prefabricated concrete pump station.

In other business board members passed an ordinance establishing a four- way stop at the One Mile road and Highway 114 intersection.

Six Hurt In Two Accidents

CHARLESTON — Six were injured in two traffic accidents near Charleston yesterday.

At 3:10 p.m. at McLeansboro, Ill., couple Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Badgett, both 72, were injured when their car collided with one driven by William Carpenter, 26, of Memphis. Carpenter also was injured. The three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

According to the highway patrol, the accident occurred when the Badgett car made a left turn into the path of Carpenter's auto. Badgett was arrested on charge of making an improper left turn.

Roger Rice, 16, and Edward Bonta, 27, of East Prairie received cuts and bruises at 10:30 last night on highway 105, two miles south of Charleston. They were each riding motorcycles when an unidentified car cut too close and forced the cycles into a collision causing them both to overturn, the patrol said.

A Passenger on the Bonta motorcycle, Joyce Warren, 18, of Charleston, received cuts and bruises. The three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Correction

BENTON — Elvis Lee Newton, Morehouse, was fined $10 and costs in Magistrate court Wednesday for permitting an unauthorized person to drive, instead of $70 as reported Thursday.

Probation Granted After Funds Theft

NEW MADRID — Virgil Allen pleaded guilty in circuit court Thursday to felonious stealing in connection with the theft March 28 of a glass jar containing $150 earmarked for benefit of Jimmy Henderson, 15, who was hospitalized for a cerebral hemmorhage.

Judge William L. Ragland sentenced Allen to two years in the department of corrections and placed him under supervised probation on recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Hal E. Hunter Jr.

Hunter told the court Allen committed the crime while he was drunk and that restitution had been made. As Allen left the court room, the prosecutor told him "to quit drinking and go to work."

Frank Catron, charged with felonious stealing, was placed on probation without supervision after he was given a two-year sentence on his guilty plea. Catron was charged with stealing a rifle valued at $64.95 from Phillips Tru Value Hardware store in New Madrid Feb. 19.

He was arrested by Cape Girardeau authorities when they were notified Catron was on a northbound Greyhound bus.

Hunter told the court Catron had made restitution and recommended the procedure as this was Catron's first offense. Catron told the court he was sorry for what he had done and he wasn't going to get into any more trouble.

W. R. Grace Company was awarded $5,157.62 judgment against James L. Strong.

An unlawful detainer suit filed by Lennie S. Watkins, Sr., against John L. and E. E. Wattle was transferred to Dunklin County Circuit Court on change of venue.

Woman Files Kidnap Charge Against Man

CHARLESTON — Leslie Allen Achter, of East Prairie, arrested Saturday on a felony charge of kidnapping, appeared before Magistrate T.J. Brown, Jr., Thursday and requested an attorney be appointed to represent him on the charge. He remains in the Mississippi County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

A complaint was filed Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Mary Cooper of East Prairie, charging Achter kidnapped her.

Mrs. Cooper charged she was kidnapped Wednesday on the north Whiting Road near East Prairie and held against her will until Saturday when they were picked up in a car in Wyatt by City Marshall John Pearson.

Sheriff W. J. Simmons said Tuesday Mrs. Cooper, who is the wife of Larry Cooper, told authorities Achter threatened her and told her to meet him. They met on the North Whiting Road, Mrs. Cooper said and Achter got into her car. Her son, Randy accompanied her.

Mrs. Cooper told authorities she and Achter had a fight, he beat her, and she told her son to run. She said Achter chased the boy in his car, leaving her alone. The boy jumped over a fence and escaped, Mrs. Cooper said, but when she tried the same thing she fell in a ditch and nearly drowned. Achter returned and helped her out of the water, she said.

Sheriff Simmons said Mrs. Cooper and Achter then "took off" and were gone until Saturday.

Mrs. Eileen Powell was bound over to circuit court on a felony charge of selling liquor with a license following a preliminary hearing. Mrs. Powell is accused of selling mixed drinks to state liquor agents at the Storming Bull Restaurant April 6.

A $1,000 bond remains in effect returnable to court June 13.

A charge of murder in the first degree was continued to June 8 to allow Andrew D. Mays time to employ counsel. Mays is charged with the May 10 death of Charles Woods.

A felonious assault charge against Monroe Sharp was continued to June 22. Sharp is accused of shooting at Andrew Mays with a .22 rifle on April 16. A charge of no operator's license against Sharp was continued.

Judge Brown suspended a 30-day jail sentence and fined Felix Ray $100 for driving while intoxicated. He was placed on one year's probation. Larry Gene Harris and Walter Cloyde Provance were both sentenced to 10 days in jail on the same charge. Driving while intoxicated and careless and imprudent driving charges against John Ivey Caudell were dismissed. The costs were certified to Mississippi County.

An attorney was appointed to represent Stanley Chessor on a felony charge of forgery. Chessor is accused of writing a $25 check to Douglas Grocery in East Prairie on Dec. 19 and forging the name of Mrs. Lucille Vaughn, 313 S. Martin, St., East Prairie.

Chessor remains in jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Arkansans Injured In Plane Crash

POPLAR BLUFF — Three Conway, Ark., residents escaped serious injury yesterday when their small aircraft ran off the end of a dirt runway, 12 miles north of Poplar Bluff, and crashed.

The accident occurred two miles south of Wappapello Dam on Route T on a 1200-foot dirt strip at the Daivs Air Ranch.

Bob Davis, owner, said he heard a plane having trouble and ran out of the garage in time to see the plane run off the north end of the airstrip.

The plane was occupied by Samuel T. Smith, 46, pilot, Dr. H. O. Weatherly, 37, and his son, Harley O. Weatherly, III, 7.

They were taken to Lucy Lee Hospital where Smith was hospitalized with a back injury and cuts. Weatherly and his son were treated for minor injuries and released.

The trouble began when the cockpit filled with smoke 8,500 feet above ground. Smith radioed to the Cape Girardeau FAA for assistance in locating an airstrip.

The plane approached the short airstrip low, knocking down a barbed wire fence. It then rolled for 1,000 feet before passing between two upright posts and crashing nose down on the shoulder of route T.

The 210 Cessna, four passenger plane, was a total loss.

Agreement Reached On Nuclear Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union reached "final agreement" today on a two-part agreement to limit the deployment of strategic nuclear weapons, the White House announced.

Signing of the accord was scheduled for a Kremlin ceremony late tonight, following President Nixon's dinner for his Soviet hosts.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the accord was reached at a two-hour afternoon summit meeting with the three top Soviet leaders— Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexi N. Kosygin.

The agreement culminates 2 1/2 years of negotiations.

Word of a SALT agreement came after a day of on-again, off-again reports of the prospects for a Friday settlement.

One part of the agreement, limiting defensive antiballistic missile sites in each country, takes the form of a treaty subject to ratification by the U.S. Senate and was agreed upon first.

Under the terms of a companion executive agreement, which will take effect without legislative action, deployment of offensive nuclear missiles will be frozen at the present level so far as the United States is concerned. The Russians will be allowed to catch up with the U.S. lead in launching platforms.

The accord permits both countries to replace existing offensive missiles, whether on land or aboard ships at sea, with more sophisticated weapons as technological advances permit.

At about the same time, Tass reported the President and Soviet leaders had agreed to establish a joint commission to "promote the development of mutually advantageous relations in trade." It was the first break-through in difficult trade negotiations since the President arrived here Monday.

The creation of such a commission had been suggested before the summit talks by some U.S. trade officials because difficult negotiations on settlement of Soviet World War II lendlease debts stood in the way of any broader trade agreements, such as multimillion-dollar grain purchases from the United States by Russia, plus U.S. credits.

U.S. summit negotiators had made no secret of their hopes for the signing this evening of a treaty and companion executive agreement to limit the deployment of offensive and defensive nuclear missiles on land and at sea.

FIREMEN WERE CALLED at 2 :43 p.m. yesterday to the Thompson Culvert Co., on Industrial Drive near the airport to extinguish a fire in 185 bales of tar. The bales were ignited by a trash fire. Firemen said nearly all the tar was destroyed.

Paving Begins On I-55

Work began on paving an eight-mile section of I-55 in Perry County, Bill Shaw, district 10 engineer, announced today.

Shaw said if work continues smoothly the paving can be completed in a month.

Shaw said the eight miles are part of the last remaining link to be completed on I-55 from Hayti to St. Louis. he final section, between Fruitland and Brewer, should be open for traffic in the fall.

After the paving is completed work remaining will include grading, shouldering erosion control and installation of guard rails and signs.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If the day ends and you have not said anything you will have to deny tomorrow, you can't complain.

WHAT'S RIGHT WITH OUR COUNTRY?

The U. S. A. has a lot going for it, strengths on which to build. But too little of that message is getting through to our youth. If we keep criticizing our country we can hardly blame our young people for looking elsewhere for inspiration.

What is right with our country? Let's take a few examples:

1) We had the foresight to found a republic and a social system where basic freedoms could survive through nearly two centuries of civil war, world war, depression, drought, and other disasters — until it stands today as the oldest democratic government in the world.

2) We had the ability to produce and innovate; to create job opportunities; reward excellence; raise living, health, and educational standards; support the arts and sciences; and provide unprecedented opportunities for personal achievement.

3) We supplied food, aid, and technical assistance to the needy — domestically and worldwide — in the world's largest effort to help the less fortunate help themselves.

4) We stood by our defense commitments through two decades of the cold war, at a staggering cost to human and material resources.

5) We had the strength and humility to look at still-unsolved domestic problems where solutions are long overdue; ghettos, crime, race riots, and to take action toward their solution.

What is right with the great majority of young Americans (in contrast to the small minority of New Left radicals) is that they are searching for solutions to our still-unsolved problems. They care more deeply about poverty and other issues than we, their parents, ever did in our day. And they want a piece of the action.

ON MEMORIAL DAY

Americans have given their lives in wars throughout the world. Mostly the sacrifices have been unhesitating because there has been a stated or implied promise that the supreme gift would help build a better, finer, free America.

Today a thousand bugles will sound to rest the spirit of our soldiers dead. The soothing of their notes is needed.

In one war, a youth flew above the battle lines in France. If he were here today, he might be one of the city's great doctors, following the footsteps of his father. But doom dived from the clouds; tracer bullets flashed in a short, sharp fight and he died.

Today the letters he had written his mother are her only solace for the silence of her boy's voice. In them he said he knew he was helping a magnificent cause — the betterment of mankind.

In another war, in another part of the world, a young farmer splashed through the dark, his shoulder under one end of a pole carrying a container of food to his comrades up ahead. When he and his buddy rested, he commented on the need to fight through those foreign farm lands so that the farm back home could stay safe and happy.

As they picked up their burden, there was the sibilant murmer that meant a machinegun was searching the path. A "thuck" sounded, and the young farmer lay in the mud. He gasped: "You'll have to take care of those farms without me."

In another part of the world a man toiled all night through the freezing rain so the guns would be in their emplacements before dawn. There was no hot food, no warmth that had been so plentiful in the store back home where his wife was doing the work of both. His cold seemed to be more troublesome, too. Another day and the doctor said pneumonia; another and the man's life ended. But in a way, he went without regrets. He had been told that such sacrifices would help make a better place in which to live.

These, and many others.

Their hallowed memories say that to us, from falling hands, they've thrown the torch. It's ours, to hold on high. If we break faith with them, who died, they shall not sleep.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL
AT 50

Washington's three most famous landmarks -- the Capitol, the Washington Monument, and the Lincoln Memorial -- seemed to have coexisted forever, so perfectly are they aligned. Each affords a picture - postcard view of the other two that is especially striking at night. And yet the Lincoln Memorial was dedicated only 50 years ago -- on May 30, 1922 -- with President Harding and Chief Justice Taft heading the delegation of dignitaries.

The memorial almost was built elsewhere. When Congress set up the Lincoln Memorial Commission in 1911, House Speaker Joseph G. Cannon recommended a site near the Capitol. In then- swampy West Potomac Park, he warned, "the building would shake itself down with loneliness and ague." Every member of the commission agreed with Cannon. But they finally settled on the park as the only possible compromise. Their fears of course, were groundless. The memorial is far and away the most popular tourist attraction in the nation's capital, with 2.3 million visitors last year.

Although the Lincoln Memorial is a youngster as far as commemorative structures go, it is showing some signs of age. A report in The New York Times (Feb. 6, 1972) quoted "one alarmed authority" as saying that the building was decomposing so rapidly that it was "like a giant Alka- Seltzer table -- you can almost hear it fizz when it rains." Air pollution and wear and tear were cited as major reasons for the purported damage.

National Capital Parks, the federal agency responsible for upkeep of the memorial, contends that such reports are "greatly exaggerated." A spokesman for NCP told Editorial Research Reports that the only structural problems requiring attention at present are roof leakage and mortarless joints. Neither NCP nor any other government agency plans any 50th anniversary ceremony on May 30. None is needed; thousands of visitors pay homage every day. And more than a few would agree with ex-Washingtonian Caryl Rivers, who recently wrote in the New York Times Magazine (May 7, 1972) that "there can be no lovelier spot on the planet than this temple to Lincoln on a spring night."

Just what is a hometown newspaper? This question is faced recurrently by the editors and publishers of small town newspapers.

The answers are manifold.

The hometown newspaper is a freely operated chamber of commerce.

It is the hub around which all cultural actions of the community revolve.

The hometown newspaper is the town hall of the 20th century, where the most humble voice may find expressive.

It is the record keeper of the community - the repository for future historians.

The hometown newspaper is the unifying force of a trade area which makes a center for shopping, talking, companionship, and recognition of common problems.

The good hometown newspaper is a place where recognition is given for accomplishment and service, and where sloth and greed are scorned.

Overall, the good hometown newspaper is the reflection of a good community.

The local newspaper is not only the mirror of the quality of local schools, government, culture and economy, it is also a prime builder and guardian of these institutions which make for a good community.

"Membership in the United Nations," according to Article 4, Chapter II of the UN Charter, "is open to all peace-loving states ..." On Monday, Oct. 25, 1971, the UN disregarded its own charter, kicking out a most peaceful charter member of the UN, Taiwan, to admit Red China whose "peace loving" nature is such that 32 million Chinese have been killed since 1949 to prove that Red China loves peace so much it will kill anyone who stands in its way. The United Nations is a very sick organization and has just gone to extreme lengths to prove the fact. It deserves no support from moral beings and should be removed from our shores. Elected leaders who support this club of international socialists and cutthroats and who demand that your tax dollars must continue to be used to support the snake pit reasoning which dwells there deserve to be a quickly booted out of office as was Taiwan.

We've been told that if people are sincere about improving the environment, now is their chance to prove it -- they can join the sidewalk lobby.

As Edwin A. Roberts, jr., writes in The National Observer, "What this country needs is not more highways but more sidewalks. Hundreds of housing subdivisions are being built these days without sidewalks. Little children must ride their tricycles in the streets, pedestrians must leap on somebody's lawn when a car approaches .. If the nation finally gets around to doing something about its sidewalk shortage ... A lot of adults may even decide to chance a walk to the store to pick up those weight-reducing pills."

Speaking of the sidewalk situation in Sikeston, many of our sidewalks are sadly in need of repair and replacement. Our city housekeeping has been sadly neglected.

NEW YORK (AP) — So you want to be a good conversationalist?

But you don't have time to memorize a thousand sparkling quotations or read a lot of heavy books so you'll be really well informed?

So what? What does being witty or knowledgeable have to do with being a good conversationalist?

The man who impresses you most with his speaking ability isn't the one who tells you something new. No, it's the one who tells you what you want to hear who sticks in your memory.

The backbone of any real conversational skill lies in probably a dozen or so key remarks you can make which give reassurance to people in most situations and which bolster their own secret high opinion of themselves. Just memorize the following statements, and use them as often as you can to as many people as possible:

"You've been a kind of hero to me in a way for a long time, but I never thought you were so young."

"From the way you're built, I'd judge you must have played a little football in your time—and not so many years ago at that."

"When you know you've got the right on your side, like you do, the battle is half won."

"Well, some people are just born photogenic, and some aren't. You're one of the lucky ones."

"You look like you've been taking off weight lately. What's your secret?"

"The trouble with you is that you're too generous for your own good. Here, let me get this round."

"I can't think of anyone wlse who could hold up under the strain like you do. You must be made of iron."

"Of course, they're all pretty, but I'd say this one is the best looker of the lot—the one that has your eyes and that same delightful little crinkle around the mouth."

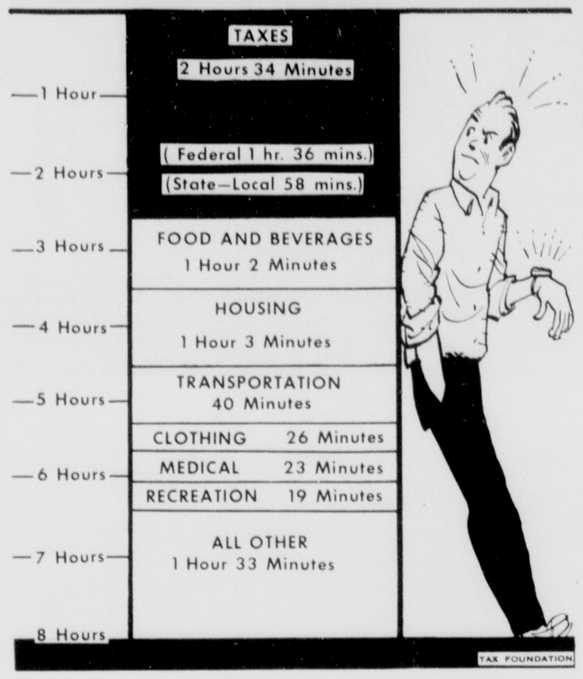

"Well, I'll say one thing about you—you never go off half-cocked. When you open your mouth, you make real sense."

"I should think that a wife lucky enough to have you for a husband really couldn't find much in her life to complain about."

"Why should they expect you to do the thinking for everybody?

Yes, it is only by telling people what they want to hear that you can gain a name as a good conversationalist, one people are always glad to talk to. If you try to tell them anything else, they not only won't listen—they'll spread the word that you're one of the biggestmouthed bores of all time.

HAZARDS OF INGENUITY

Sometimes it pays to get things upside-down.

When a bolt on the main spar of his stunt airplane failed, aerobratic pilot Neil Williams in Bristol, England, turned his plane upside-down in order to relieve strain on the weakened wing.

When he got within several feet of the ground, he flipped the plane over and landed safely.

Then spectators turned their stomachs rightside-up also.

The guide was equal to the occasion. He answered, "To make the engine tender."

WHAT ARE YOU
WAITING FOR?

Two young women, who had a comfortable inheritance and literary aspirations, resolved to shun matrimony and devote themselves to a "career." They merely dabbled at writing for a few years, "Waiting for the great inspiration." Then one of them fell in love, married, moved to a distant city, and in time became the mother of two children.

After several years her friend paid her a visit, expecting to console her over her "ruined career." To her astonishment she found the busy wife and mother working on her second novel. The first, published under a nom de plume, had won a place among the "six best" of the previous year. The single woman had not even had a short story accepted.

It is a wise saying that the best inspiration comes from desperation while in a state of perspiration. The person who is "waiting for inspiration" before doing the thing he contemplates, either never does it, or does it poorly, as compared with the efforts of the one who plunges into the job and relies on his own dynamic energy to furnish the inspiration.

Inspiration comes out of a man, not to him. Like perspiration, it is the by-product of intelligent activity.

NOW HEAR THIS, WIFE

Young people who complain that the "establishment" doesn't listen to them have nothing on your average newly married housewife.

A survey of about 300 young couples in Peoria and Decatur, Ill., by the Survey Research Laboratory of the Univ. of Illinois, found that while nine out of 10 wives reported discussing the purchase of a new car with their husbands, only eight of 10 husbands said they discussed the subject with their mates.

In other words, 30 out of 150 husbands just weren't listening when they were addressed by their better halves. Either that or men and women have different definitions of "discussion."

The survey was conducted last fall as part of a continuing study of consumer decisions.

Family size and the wife's working are the two decisions discussed most frequently by young couples. Nine out of 10 couples in the sample group discussed these subjects.

Weekly food expenditures and where to go on vacation are decisions discussed least often.

Another significant finding reported by the laboratory: "It is interesting to note that more wives than husbands believe that you can feel both love and hate for the same person."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., after first refusing to endorse Sen. George McGovern for the Democratic presidential nomination, has now agreed to throw his support to McGovern if the crucial California primary appears close.

Earlier, Kennedy turned down a personal appeal from McGovern for an endorsement. "You've already got my whole family," begged off Kennedy, who has tried to make it a rule to keep out of other people's primaries.

But later, Kennedy indicated through intermediaries that he would help McGovern in California if his support would be decisive. The Massachusetts senator has a strong following among California's blacks and chicanos, who lean toward Hubert Humphrey but could be influenced by Kennedy.

Both McGovern and Humphrey consider it essential to carry California, whose huge bloc of delegates will go to the winner no matter how small his victory margin may be.

This has pitted the two contenders in a high-noon showdown. The drama is heightened by the fact that they are close personal friends and former next-door neighbors. When McGovern was sick, Humphrey brought him hot soup.

For the sake not only of their friendship but the prospects of defeating President Nixon in November, McGovern and Humphrey have agreed not to cut up one another in the California primary. They have also established an informal liaison to stop their political disciples from engaging in smear politics.

Already, McGovern has stopped the circulation of campaign pictures showing Humphrey warmly greeting Georgia's former racist governor, Lester Maddox. McGovern also wouldn't let his campaigners refer to the Vietnam War as "the Johnson-Humphrey War." Humphrey, for his part, has stopped the distribution of material purporting to show that McGovern is anti-Israel.

But as high noon approaches on June 6, there may be a temptation in the rival camps to throw a final punch.

DEFENDING PEKING

In an unusually conciliatory move toward Peking, the White House is vigorously mobilizing the Administration to fight what it calls "arrant nonsense" about Red China's role in world dope trafficking.

The White House gesture toward Mao Tse-tung comes even as President Nixon is wooing Mao's arch rival in the Communist world, Soviet party head Leonid Brezhnev.

A white House memo contains evidence that Richard Nixon, once the implacable foe of Communist China, is now defending China. The memo was circulated quietly to the Departments of State, Defense, Treasury and the U.S. Information Agency.

The memo urges them to fight "propaganda" against Red China. Included with the memo is a two-page briefing paper prepared by the federal intelligence agencies on Red China and opium.

"Tha attached report ....answers in detail allegations that the PRC (Communist China) is flooding the western world with illicit opium," declares the memo from White House drug information director Richard Harkness, formerly an NBC newscaster.

"It is earnestly suggested that this factual report be used as a bible for all of us in replying to and countering any propaganda to the contrary. We must cut down this kind of arrant nonsense."

The "bible" included with the memo contends that a "persistent progaganda campaign... is being promoted in this country by a number of groups who have consistently opposed normalization of relations between the U.S. and the PRC."

"Propaganda leaflets" against Red China contain a June 23, 1966, quote by Chou En-lai to the late President Gamal Nasser of Egypt. In it, Chau allegedly said that "we are planting the best kinds of opium especially for the American soldiers in Vietnam...."

The White House report points out that "it was not until mid-1970 that drug abuse among U.S. servicemen in Vietnam reached serious proportions.

"Moreover, no evidence has yet produced to indicate any attempt on the part of Peking to introduce opium or heroin into Vietnam."

The White House also maintains that China strictly controls opium production. Even in the old opium belts of Yunnan province, states the briefing paper, there is no "significant illicit cross-border movements" to the outside world.

"The tight political control exercised by the (Red Chinese) government over its citizens has probably made the enforcement of these laws quite effective in most areas," the White House claims.

WEATHERMEN AND CHINESE

Footnote: Secret FBI files, meanwhile, accuse the "Weathermen" -- the radical student group which claims responsibility for the recent bombing of the Pentagon -- of taking their political ideology from "Chinese Communists."

The Weatherman dossier contains the full history of the group's split with the Students for a Democratic Society "in early 1969." The militants then "went underground in February, 1970."

Their objective, according to the FBI files, is the "creation of a radical, leftist, anarchist America." They hope to accomplish this by "guerrilla warfare and armed insurrection."

Structurally, says the files, the Weatherman (CQ) consists of three layers -- a central committee and secondary and third-level "focos." The individual "focos." says one ducument, are independent "and know only one contact person in the central committee."

VOTING TRENDS

Voting is some of the state primaries where delegates are named to the national conventions has shown in some instances a trend toward the far left spectrum of politics. One candidate for the Democratic party nomination for the presidency declared after a state ballot victory that the vote showed the United States would soon become "the nation of love, of peace." This would be a wonderful status for all of us but those of the electorate who look at the situation realistically know that national defense and living up to our foreign obligations prohibit us from turning all our swords into plowshares. Our very existence depends on an overpowering defense posture.

We have suffered a terrible loss of face in Indochina. We are struggling to get the last of our troops out of that troubled land without experiencing another Dunkirk. We have advocated peace between the warring factions of Vietnam but the communist enemy has stalled at the peace table and launched fresh unprovoked attacks against our allies in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Those candidates seeking election of high office who advocate, even demand, a fixed date for termination of our effort in Indochina are aiding the cause of Hanoi, Moscow and Peking. They may be doing it without malice. Still it aids and abets our avowed enemies, the nations that adhere to the communist practice of aggression. The management of both major parties ought to look at the world-wide picture and determine to nominate and elect those men and women who stand for the good of this Republic which offers the best system of government. We cannot become a nation of peace and love completely until the forces of communism cease their efforts to overwhelm and enslave us.

Inside Labor

Labor splits on War: chiefs of four million unionists break with Meany-- Fitzsimmons support of Nixon vietnam policy

WASHINGTON —— One of labor's own intellectuals said the other day that inside the movement "some hard-boiled eggheads are beginning to bounce off the hard hats." That summed it up. A powerful alliance of labor leaders is breaking with that ambulatory stone wall known as AFL-CIO chief George Meany on war and peace.

For the first time in many a wartime there is a strong united front for peace now developing atop the movement. To insiders the implications are significant for many political, industrial and philosophical reasons.

This is the first open revolt of importance inside the AFL-CIO against Meany.

This coalition speaks for the first combination of Teamsters leaders to differ with the brotherhood's chieftain Frank Fitzsimmons.

This is the first philosophical policy alliance between conservative, liberal and left-wing forces in and out of the AFL—CIO and the Teamsters -- uniting such militants as the State County and Municipal Employees leaders Jerry Wurf and Victor Gotbaum; Farm Workers' president Cesar Chavez, Teamsters Western Conference chairman and second vice president Einar Mohn, a strong man, indeed; the avowedly pro-Soviet admirer of Chairman Mao, Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union; Albert Fitzgerald, president, and James Matles, secretary treasurer, an ultra, who lead a once rip-roaring left-wing union known as the United Electrical Workers (independent); Dave Livingston, secretary-treasurer of the Distributive Workers; Jerry Coleman, executive secretary of the United Hatters, which is led by Alex Rose, who directs the balance-of-power New York State Liberal Party; Joe Belsky, president of the Meat Cutters and of course Leonard Woodcock and Emil Mazey, president and secretary-treasurer of the Auto Workers.

They've united into a national "Labor For Peace"committee. And they're preparing to hit the hustings.

Though I've not listed Teamsters' fourth vice president Harold Gibbons in the group above, he's one of the committee's dynamos. The Labor For Peace convention is scheduled to meet in his St. Louis headquarters on June 23 and 24. This will be a delegated conference. Each participant will represent a national, state or local union and pay a $15 registration fee.

Then they'll launch, they say, a network of state and municipal "peace now" organizations. The aim of some participants is to isolate Meany. Others want to demonstrate they disagree with the AFL-CIO president and the Teamsters chief as well. Others such as the unknown Jim Matles and some of Bridges' colleagues believe that the Soviets are the saviors of peace.

Some such as the Auto Workers leaders Mazey and Woodcock -- who will go to Moscow in July -- are old -line Fabian Socialists and pacifists and have opposed all recent conflicts.

There are others, lesser known, who soon enough will spring into labor prominence, who are anti-Communist and pro-peace. Such, for example, as one Murray Finley, little known outside Chicago. He has been vice president of the 270,000-member men's clothing workers union (founded by the late Sidney Hillman). About two months ago word circulated through the labor movement that Finley soon would succeed AFL—CIO Vice President and current Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America veteran President Jacob Potofsky (Hillman's protege) as president in June. So it will be. Finley, too, is in the peace group and he is of the younger breed, albeit a 50-year-old lawyer.

In the peace coalition, which was angered when Meany supported President Nixon's blockade of Hanoi's ports, also are other AFL—CIO national union presidents. Thus for the first time there will be a strong minority to dispute Meany as war and peace spokesman for the 13.5 million-member AFL-CIO.

Analysis of the Labor For Peace founding conference call signers discloses vital presidential campaign trends. Harold Gibbons, one of the trio of labor leaders who flew to Hanoi recently, is head of the Teamster's Central States organization. These states border on Einar Mohn's Western Confernece. Thus the powerful Teamsters' leaders, at least, in virtually half the nation appear to break with the Nixon-Fitzsimmons coalition. The call, signed by Gibbons and Mohn, lashes sharply at President Nixon.

The AFL-CIO leaders appear to be abandoning Hubert Humphrey and rallying to George McGovern -- despite Meany's distast for the South Dakotan's foreign policy.

For the moment only common opposition to Mr. Nixon's and Meany's and Fitz's foreign policy binds the Labor For Peace chiefs together. Without this issue they might not have had anything in common. Or, they might tighten up, swing the independent unions into the AFL-CIO and represent a powerful bloc left of Meany's center.

Note well this coming conference. It is led by influential men who lead strong unions with four million members. The drama, though virtually unobserved, is in its implications and not in the imprecations against the war.

Hearnes' Rift With Senate Widens

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A veto of a federal grant of $63,500 for legislative staffing has widened the rift between Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and the Missouri Senate.

"Everything our committee worked on to improve the legislature is now down the drain," Sen. Albert M. Spradling, DCape Girardeau, told The Associated Press. "there's just nothing left."

Spradling is chairman of the Senate Accounts Committee which sought the federal grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to hire Wayne Waldo, former assistant attorney genera, to act as counsel and researcher for Senate committees.

The governor vetoed the grant. He said the proposed $29,000-plus salary for Waldo was out of line and would cause friction with the House, with other legislative employes and with state agencies where salaries are much lower.

If the legislature wanted to hire extra staff, he said, provision should be made to staff House committees as well and salaries should be kept in line with state pay scales.

LT. GOV. BILL MORRIS arrived at the Cape Girardeau Airport this morning to make a campaign swing through Scott County. Those present to meet the candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor were from left, Les Lankford, Scott County committee co-chairman; Ben F. Marshall III, committee finance chairman; Philip Boyer and Pat Fitzgerald, new voter committee; Keith Ziegenhorn, finance committee; Morris; Blair Moran, 10th District coordinator for the Morris campaign; Mary Fitzgerald, new voter committee; and Bill Lewis, Scott County committee co-chairman. Morris campaigned in Illmo-Scott City, New Hamburg, Benton, Chaffee and will attend a reception at the Ramada Inn at 7:30 tonight. The public is invited.

Top Consumer Fraud May Be Government Operations

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Denenberg, the Pennsylvania insurance commissioner, believes that the No. 1 consumer fraud in America is the manner in which government is operated.

Not government itself, mind you. He thinks that will work, given the right people and programs. But he claims government is failing "because the special interest groups are calling the shots."

"Look," he said as he reviewed figures culled from The Statistical Abstract, "government spends more than $300 billion or $1,500 per person each year, more than we pay altogether for food, beverages, clothing, jewelry.

"It takes 13 million employes to spend that money. Why then did it take Ralph Nader instead of the governmeat to spread the word on the problem of automobile safety?"

The views of Denenberg, 42, are worth listening to. He is a lawyer, insurance man, consultant, author, former professor. Even more to the point, he claims the formula for putting government to work is hardly a mystery.

He has in a matter of months, attacked lawyers, doctors, hospitals, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, health insurers, life insurers—all, he says, in the interest of efficiency and consumer welfare, mainly in the form of lower rates.

He forced Blue Cross to cancel its contracts and negotiate new ones aimed at forcing hospitals to seek greater efficiency. He issued guides to show consumers the real rates they paid for insurance. He promoted no-fault auto insurance as good for the public but bad for trial lawyers.

With such an attitude on government's part, he claims, the old-fashioned virtues of thrift, efficiency and responsibility will be instilled in the special interests, with resulting public benefits in better service and lower costs.

When the public recognizes that you mean business they provide more information. They know something will be done, and in so thinking they make your job easier. You reciprocate, always keeping the communications open.

With public support, says Denenberg, "you have strength with the governor, the legislature, the special interest groups. We couldn't take on all this without public support. We'd be wiped out."

But when you have that support, he adds, government works. "It almost scares me how much action you can get."

What's The Law?

Six Wives Can Share In Estate

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

If a man had no objection to having six mothers-in-law, it was perfectly legal in Aba's homeland to have six wives. And that was exactly the number of wives Aba left behind when he took up residence in the United States. But, years later, when Aba died, the administrator of his estate found himself with an unusual problem one morning. Opening his front door, there were Aba's six wives, dressed like they had just stepped out of the Arabian Nights, each demanding one-sixth of Aba's large estate as his widows.

"I'm sorry," apologized the perplexed administrator, "but, in this state, since a man is prohibited from having more than one wife, he can only have one widow. Consequently, you're five too many."

"While we respect your laws," responded the spokeswoman for the small harem, "if you will inspect ours, you will find that we were all legally married to Aba. Consequently, we are, in fact, all his widows and entitled to split up his estate between us."

The administrator, however, refused to make such concession and the determined ladies took their claims to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you allow Aba's wives to split his estate between them even though the law prohibits a man from having more than one wife?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that foreign marriages are recognized in this state so long as they are not against public policy. Since the only question in this case, noted the judge, is the distribution of money and not whether a man can live with more than one woman, public policy would not be affected by permitting Aba's six wives to split up his estate. (Based upon a 1948 California District Court of Appeals Decision)

Bike Safety Rally at Mall

A bicycle safety rally will be held from 10 a.m. to noon tomorrow at Kingsway Plaza Mall.

At 10 a.m. a bicycle decoration contest will be held with children between six to 14 participating. Bicycles in ages six to eight will be judged by the Rev. Coy Presson of the First Nazarene Church and Jimmy Pharris.

Ages nine to 11 will be judged by Larry Kennedy of the Vanduser Baptist Church and Raymond Leible.

Ages 12 to 14 will be judged by the Rev. Manly Luscombe of the Shady Acres Church of Christ and C. D. Alcorn.

There will be three prizes awarded in each age group.

Bicycles will be inspected by the police and a record will be made of the owner's name, address, and the make, size, and serial number of the bike.

A boys and girls bicycle will be given away in a drawing at 11:30 a.m. Winners must have attended a safety lecture and have a safety certificate with them. They must also be between eight and 14.

The American Kennel Club recorded 1,129,200 dogs in 1971, the highest number registered in the organization's history. Poodles ranked as the most popular breed in the U.S.A. for the 12th consecutive year according to the AKC's 1971 pure-bred registration figures. The World Almanac says. There were 256,491 poodles and 111,355 German shepherds registered in 1971.

ALL TEN FOR ONE WEEK are the two sets of twins of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mather, 724 Mimosa. The youngest twins on the first row are Paulette Nadine and Stephen Brian. The older twins are Annette Marie and James Cotton.

Two Sets of Twins In Family 10 This Week

For one week the Robert Mather family at 724 Mimosa has four children all 10.

There are two sets of twins in the family, the first set, Annette Marie and James Cotton, were born May 29, 1961. The second set, Stephen Brian and Paulette Nadine were born May 21, 1962. All four were born in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Their father is a purchasing agent for Noranda Aluminum Inc. in New Madrid and their mother a registered nurse, has started work as the night supervisor at the Dexter Memorial hospital.

There are two other children in the family, Mary Colette, 8, and Jeannette Louise, 7. All six children attend Matthews elementary school.

Mrs. Mather's doctor told her the first time she was going to have twins but the second time she was told she was going to have a large baby.

"I knew better," she said, "I knew if it wasn't twins that it was probably deformed. We were just thankful that they were all right when they were born."

"My husband helped me a lot the first time, but the second time around we had to have household help," she added.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mather come from large families and she says that if she had it to do over she would want it the same way.

Mrs. Mather says that there is a closeness between the twins in each set. If they have something to share they will always share it with their twin first.

The children are separated in classrooms because their parents want them independent and not to become too closely attached.

The three older girls are in Junior Girl Scouts and Jeanette will be in brownies next year. Their mother was a Brownie leader at Matthews elementary school. James is a Webelo.

They plan to spend their two week summer vacation at Holden Beach, N.C.

The family is a branch of the New England Mather family, direct descendants of Richard Cotton and Increase Mather, clergymen in the old North Church in Boston in the 17th and 18th centuries instrumental in destroying witchcraft.

In the past the children have had one big birthday party on a Sunday afternoon with with each child inviting five guests each.

This year the parties are separate. Paulette had a slumber party May 12 and Annette had one last Friday night. The boys will have theirs together tonight with a cookout in the back yard and then bunk in tents.

THE HOLLY HUNTINGTON LIVING CAMPFIRE site, being constructed on edge of Wappapello Lake near Poplar Bluff, will be completed this summer.

Ann Landers

Go Prepared When Job Hunting

Dear Ann Landers: I work in the personnel office of a small company and am writing in the hope that you will print my letter before graduation. I have some advice for individuals who will be looking for employment. It is amazing how many people come in here ill-prepared. Here are some suggestions which might make the difference between getting the job and not getting it.

1. Bring something to write with -- preferably a pen. If your handwriting is poor, print.

2. Answer all questions to the best of your ability. The firm, no matter how large or small, asks questions for a reason.

3. Have your social security number with you and ---

4. If you are a male, your selective service number.

5. Be able to list the schools you've attended (starting with elementary) and the dates of attendance.

6. Be prepared to trace your employment record, including beginning dates and quitting dates, names of employers, location, positions held and salary.

7. Be prepared to list at least three people (besides employers) who will give character references. Know their addresses and telephone numbers.

I have been in a position to observe a great deal of embarrassment and disappointment because people couldn't meet the simple requirements listed above. The candidate who has to go home and come back with facts and figures is going to lose out to one who has the information at his fingertips. I've observed, too, Ann, that the person who is prepared has an air of confidence that makes a good first impression. -- Gainseville

Dear Gainesville: (What an appropriate signature!) And now I'd like to add a suggestion of my own.

I'm aware that many capable, bright young people wear their hair long, have beards and dress non-establishment. I am also aware that there are laws forbidding discrimination against a job candidate because he has long hair and a beard. But if an employer doesn't like your looks, the chances of being hired are sharply reduced. So if you really want the job, don't apply for it with a chip on your shoulder the size of a gangplank.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm upset and can't think straight. Just say "go" ...or "don't go."

A good friend phones last night to say she and her sister had just finished addressing the invitations to her wedding. They had miscalculated somehow and were six invitations short. She asked if I would feel hurt if I didn't receive a engraved invitation, but a note instead. I said, "Of course not." Now my mother tells me I am crazy -- that I should not go to the wedding because it is plain that my friend considers me less important than the other guests. What do you say? I really want to go, Ann. --Bon Bon

Dear Bon: I say go. The bride is obviously in a spot and she is counting on her closest friends to understand. Don't let her down.

Confidential to Miserable, Unhappy and Insignificant: Try to be pleasant and uncomplaining. Thirteen is a horrible age for a girl who has a sister sixteen. I promise that life will be brighter when you are sixteen and she is nineteen.

Even if drinking is the "in"thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You -- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper with your request.

G. S. Memorial Almost Completed

A memorial to Holly Huntington is being constructed by her parents Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Huntington of Poplar Bluff at the Girl Scout Camp Latonka on Wappapello Lake.

Miss Huntington was a sophomore at Poplar Bluff high school when she died May 11, 1971 following a brief illness of hepatitis. She was 16 and active in Girl Scouting.

The Holly Huntington Living Memorial Campfire site will be completed for use during the summer session of the camp.

Art Jablonsky of Jefferson City is the architect. The memorial has a gradually elevated semi- circular wall which faces the seating area of concrete construction.

Q—Does an earthworm have eyes?

A—No, it has neither eyes nor ears, but it does have sensory cells which make it aware of light and touch.

Nickel got its name from the German word for a mischievous spirit – because of all the trouble it gave chemists in early times.

300,000 Expected At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — If anything - anything at all - goes wrong at the 500 mile race, Jo Quinn has to try to make it come out right.

But Jo combines a bawdy sense of humor - quips jump like popcorn from his pinkcheeked face - with an innate ability to handle crowds and crises.

As safety director of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, he is lord of the 555½ acre manor which once a year turns madhouse when an estimated 300,000 auto racing buffs swarm in for the 500.

The 68-year-old, balding, brawny official is in charge of rescuing drivers from wrecked machines, drying out drunks, running out girls peddling sex, corraling 4,537 high school bandsmen and creating order out of chaos as enough people to populate Tucson, Ariz., converge for the U. S. Auto Club classic and the pre-race festivities.

Quinn has been at the job for 27 years. He works from a cluttered office in a little white clapboard building just inside the main gate, issuing parking stickers, signing letters, talking on the telephone to people like the lieutenant governor, a country school teacher and the accompanist for Jim Nabors, who will sing "Back Home Again in Indiana" before the race.

Two days before the race, Jo was at work in his sweltering office- no air conditioning, windows closed- without sweating while wearing a pocketed, red quilted, down - filled vest he affectionately calls his traveling secretary.

"I had four coronaries so I take blood thinners and my blood was already thin," he explained.

Quinn is assisted by a group of top aides he calls "the dirty dozen," 2,600 yellow-shirted officers known as the safety patrol, and a fire emergency unit.

That's inside the track.

Surrounding it tonight and Saturday will be 250 city policemen, 300 state troopers, 75 speedway policemen and 100 deputy sheriffs.

"I have a peculiar philosophy," he said, sitting back in his chair, crossing his legs to reveal black and white checkered socks to match his bowtie. "I always say, 'It sure is nice to be wonderful, but it's a helluva lot more wonderful to be nice."

On hand will be 18 wreckers, 16 ambulances, a fire rescue squad, a hospital 2½ times bigger than last year, a special hydraulic lift to remove wrecked cars quickly from the 2½ mile oval and two hilecopters to transport any badly injured driver to a nearby hospital in a hurry.

MIKE MEDLOCK was the only Charleston high school baseball player to be named to the SEMO conference all league team. Medlock was named the second team catcher.

10 State Records Expected To Fall

Every fisherman dreams of catching at least one lunker. This spring, summer and fall it is estimated more than 20,000 lunker bass (fish weighing over four pounds) will be caught in Ozark impoundments, streams and farm ponds. Of these, at least 10 will be state record breakers, but they willl not be recognized in the state fishing records because they will be taken home, mounted or eaten without being verified by state conservation agents or state officials.

If you should happen to land what you think is record- breaking fish, the best thing to do is have it weighted at the boatdock before at least two reliable witnesses, one of whom should be the county conservation agent, if he is available.

Indianapolis 500...

By BILL BRODRICK

INDIANAPOLIS — Indianapolis, tomorrow is a two-and-a-half- mile strip of asphalt on the west side of town that ends right where it starts.

Indianapolis is "The Brickyard", the "World's Greatest Race Course", "Indy", or you can just call it "The Speedway" and everybody knows what you're talking about.

Indianapolis is a shrine to American racing. It's steel and mortar and asphalt, but it has a soul and the 500- mile race is what makes it live.

Indianapolis is the beginning for some and the end for others. It's a seven- year- old's future and a 70- year- old's past.

Indianapolis is a white shirt and tie in the $50 penthouse seats and denim shorts and tee shirt in the $5 infield.

Indianapolis is sound and silence. A thousand cheers for the winner and an afterthought for the losers.

Indianapolis is tradition found in ramshackle old buildings of Gasoline Alley and modern steel and glass of the Pagoda.

Indianapolis is pretty girls and ugly mechanics. It's powder and grease. It's the smell of perfume and gasoline. It's lovely blue eyes and eyes red from lack of sleep.

Indianapolis is a handful of decals and an autograph scribbled on the back of a program.

Indianapolis is a lost child, a lost car, a lost beer cooler, a lost ticket stub. It's forgotten suntan lotion, forgotten binoculars and a forgottenwife.

Indianapolis is the expert and the rookie, both in the stands and on the track. The big name and the what's his-name. It's a man forced to retire and a youngster eager to get going.

Indianapolis is a silver badge that gets you anywhere and a rip in the pants from trying to sneak in that gets you a whipping.

Indianapolis is a parade lap, a victory lap, and 200 laps in between.

Indianapolis is red, blue, yellow, orange, black, white and even once in awhile green blended together to form a rainbow that travels over 180 mph.

Indianapolis is one of the joys of being alive.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson has won 207 major league games, Marty Pattin 40 and Skip Lockwood 16, but they all have one thing in common—each picked up his first 1972 victory Thursday.

"I didn't figure I was going to go all season without winning," said Gibson, 1-5, after scattering seven hits as the St. Louis Cardinals stopped Pittsburgh's nine-game winning streak 4-2.

"That takes the pressure off," said Pattin, 1-5, who allowed only four hits, struck out nine and was aided by a triple play in pitching the Boston Red Sox over Baltimore 2-1.

"They popped up on good pitches and bad," said Lockwood, 1-4, who hurled a six-hitter and outdueled Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Tigers 2-0.

In Thursday's only other games, the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 on Willie Mays' 14th-inning single, the New York Yankees shaded Cleveland 2-0, Minnesota nipped Texas 6-5 and Kansas City beat California 5-2.

Gibson's fast ball was in good form and he struck out 10 Pirates, getting Richie Hebner three times although the Pittsburgh third baseman homered in the sixth. By then, Gibson had a 3-1 lead with Ted Sizemore belting his first home run of the season and Lou Brock scoring twice—in the first on Matty Alou's single and in the third on a double play grounder.

"I feel the same as I always do," said the 36-year-old righthander. "When I win, I love it; when I lose, I'm mad. My control was a little better, but I've been throwing the same way the last four or five games."

Pattin fell behind the Orioles 1-0 in the second inning when Don Baylor cracked his fifth home run. But the Rd Sox tied it quickly in the third on Tommy Harper's double and Luis Aparicio's single off Pat Dobson. Aparicio then came around with the winning run on a stolen base, flying ball and Ellie Hendricks' passed ball.

"It's tough every time you go out there," sighed Pattin. "You just have to cope witl it, concentrate, relax and throw the way you know how ... I've been down before and it's no fun, I'll tell you that."

What was fun was the triple play, which took Pattin out of trouble in the fourth inning. With runners at first and second, Hendricks lined to first baseman Duane Josephson, who stepped on the bag for the second out and threw to shortstop Aparicio to nail Terry Crowley trying to get back to second.

The Brewers struck suddenly in the fourth inning against Lolich, one of two eight-game winners in the majors. Mike Ferraro opened with a double, one of his three hits, and Ellie Rodriguez slammed his first home run of the season into the upper left field stands at Tiger Stadium.

Lockwood didn't walk anyone in his shutout and manager Dave Bristol called it "definitely the best game he's pitched since he's been here."

The contest was enlivened by a brief scrap in the ninth inning after Milwaukee's Billy Conigliaro bunted and Detroit reliever Phil Meeler ran into him while making the tag on a close play at first base. Conigliaro was ejected.

Mays' game-winning two-out single broke the Mets' twogame losing streak and was the 41-year-old super star's third decisive hit since returning to New York two weeks ago.

Chicago's Bill Hands was staked to a two-run lead in the sixth on Carmen Fanzone's double. But he developed a blister on his pitching hand and the Mets tied it against Tom Phoebus on Duffy Dyer's homer i the eighth and rusty Staub's double and Cleon Jones' single in the ninth.

Fritz Peterson, who lost his first six starts made it two triumphs in a row by blanking Cleveland on seven hits as the Yankees won for the eighth time in their last 11 games. They scored off Dick Tidrow in the sixth inning when Bobby Murcer singled and Roy White homered.

Rod Carew squeezed home Cesar Tovar, who had doubled and moved to third on Danny Thompson's sacrifice, with the winning run in the seventh inning as the Twins edged the Rangers, who had beaten them four straight in Texas over the weekend.

Lenny Randle's homer helped the Rangers to a 3-0 lead against Jim perry but the Twins chased Pete Broberg and took a 5-3 lead in the sixth, with Bobby Darwin, Eric Soderholm and Steve Braun delivering run-scoring hits.

Richie Scheinblum doubled home a first-inning run and scored on Cookie Rojas' single and Paul Schaal homered in the third as the Royals downed the Angels behind the six-hit pitching of Paul Splittorff and Roger Nelson.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL PICK-OFF PLAY brought Hart Standards' Jim Saulters sliding back into first base in Wednesday's Senior Babe Ruth contest between Harts Standard and Leible Implement. Leible's first baseman Rick Spears, hauls in the late throw from Leible's pitcher Mitchell Walker.

HARTS STANDARDS' Paul HeWitt, left, and Phil Puckett, right, round third base and head home for scores in Wednesday's Senior Babe Ruth opener. HeWitt and Puckett both singled. Teammate Hesselrode doubled the two runs home in Hart's 5-1 win over Leible Implement. Catching for Leible Implement, was John Leible.

Horse Show Set

PORTAGEVILLE — World champion potential will be in competition in the 15th annual Kiwanis Charity horse s..ow June 22, Chairman J.D. Stafford said in announcing the program.

"Each year, Stafford said, "some of the entries in the Portageville show have gone on to place not lower than fifth in world competition."

Two new classes, roadster to bike ponies and ladies on walking horses, have been added for a 12-class show.

Presentation of the American flag opens the program at 8 p.m. at the Reaves Athletic Field , followed by Bill Brown singing the national anthem.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. Fr. Amel Shibley. Mayor Roy Moore will make welcoming remarks. June C. Ransburgh will serve as ringmaster, Cuz Moreland, announcer, Roger Alexander of Union City, Tenn., organist, Jack Warren of Spring Hill, Tenn., judge; and Nicky Forrester of Fulton, Ky., farrier.

In observance of the city's centennial celebration Stafford said Kiwanis members and ribbon girls will dress in period costumes.

NBA Reigns Supreme

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — "The National Basketball Association Players' Association has decided that if anyone is suspended or fined, all the players will quit," said burly Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons.

"That's proably true," said Dave DeBusschere of the New York Knicks, "but I don't know that for a complete fact. But that would be the logical thing to say. If they suspend one of us, they might as well suspend all of us."

They made their comments Thursday night, after the NBA All-Stars, playing under the threat of fines or suspensions from Commissioner Walter J. Kennedy, had overcome a 19point deficit and edged the American Basketball Association's best players 106-104 at the Nassau Coliseum.

Kennedy had strongly warned the NBA players that they would be subject to fines, the minimum of which would be the amount they received for playing in the game. For beating the ABA for the second year in a row, the NBA players earned a total of $33,000, or $3,000 per player.

The ABA All-Stars, whose owners and Commissioner Jack Dolph had endorsed the game, split a total of $17,000.

"I wasn't really bothered by the threat, but apparently some players were," said Lanier, voted the game's Most Valuable Player after sparking the NBA's comeback with 15 points and seven rebounds.

Of the original group picked to represent the NBA, there were three defections—Milwaukee center Kareem AbdulJabbar, the league's Most Valuable Player and leading scorer each of the past two seasons; and All-Star guards Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers and Walt Frazier of the Knicks.

Frazier was a surprise absentee. He did not even inform game officials that he would not play.

"The fans got their money's worth," said former Lakers" star Elgin Baylor, who made his coaching debut as head of the NBA club. "It was a good show."

The young ABA, seeking to avenge last year's 125-120 loss in the first meeting between the leagues, burst to a 49-30 lead midway through the second quarter. But the NBA All-Stars reeled off 15 consecutive points, six by Baltimore's Archie Clark.

The game remained close until halfway through the third period, when the NBA went ahead to stay 75-74 on a jump shot by Boston's John Havlicek. With Lanier and Havlicek leading the offense, the NBA increased its lead to 95-87 in the fourth quarter.

The ABA then surged back, closing to 105-104 on a threepoint field goal by Rick Barry of the New York Nets in the closing seconds. But Clark closed out the scoring with a free throw with four seconds left.

Havlicek wound up as the game's high scorer with 17 points. Donnie Freeman of Dallas paced the ABA with 16.

Frazer Defends Title With Ko

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier proved Thursday night he also deserved the nickname "Butcher" just as much as battered and vanquished challenger Ron Stander.

Unbeaten Frazier retained his world title by stopping a game, but bloodied Stander in a bout that will go into the record books as a fifth-round knockout.

After an even first round, Frazier battered the 27-year-old unranked Stander, who was dubbed the "Bluffs Butcher," with a savage body attack and turned his face into a bloody mask.

"He was surely a game puncher," offered the unscarred Frazier after his fourth successful title defense. The victory boosted his pro record to 290 including 25 knockout victories.

Stander, a local favorite from nearby Council Bluffs, Iowa, came out aggressively and slugged with the champion on even terms in the opening round.

Referee Zach Clayton of Philadelphia, who summoned the doctor that stopped the fight, and the two judges called the first round even, but thereafter Frazier's speed told.

The champion began to score heavily to the body in the second round, bloodied Stander in the third and then reeled him a couple of times in a slugfest fourth round.

"Those cuts were getting deeper and deeper, there was no doubt about stopping it," said ring doctor Jack Lewis of Omaha. "There was no objection from the Stander corner."

THE CHURCH'S NEED FOR RENEWAL

Americans continue to seek something new in their lives. For this reason, they turn daily to their newspapers, magazines, radios and television sets to see what's new.

The church faces another assignment. It must instill among its members the need to keep up their enthusiasm for an organization that survives because its principles don't change day to day.

The importance of reviewing the Ten Commandments can not be overstressed. All one needs to do is to read the regular statistical reports of the FBI and other crime-fighting agencies.

Thus the need to resist evil becomes more acute in our society. The need to grow in the Christian graces also becomes more difficult.

And churches are facing problems from within. Church school attendance has dropped in many communities. Church members argue over the degree of their group's "involvement" in social and political issues.

Others debate the division of funds in the budget: How much should be spent in the local church and how much should be used for outside purposes.

Many of the larger denominations have seen their membership decline. At the same time, the smaller evangelical groups are growing. Some of the problems are similar to those Paul wrote about in Colossians.

Paul offered a prescription for the salvation of the church. He wrote from prison to a newly-established church. In reading his comments the church member should ask himself: How much of this applies to me and to my church?

There is always a place for a spiritual inventory in our lives. We must be willing to accept reproof and discipline and we must be on guard against self-satisfaction.

Paul informed us that in baptism the "old man," a sinful person, dies as in him Christ is born anew. A new life follows this incident. The person, however, must discard the sins of the flesh and the world.

Warnings were voiced by Paul against these sins that included anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, and foul talk. Today we are warned about similar sins.

Yet if we accept Christ and keep His faith we renounce these sins. Since this is difficult, we must undergo renewal from time to time.

Renewal means to make new again, to restore, or to make like new. John Dewey said, "the chief danger of religion lies in the fact that it has become so respectable. It has become largely a sanction of what socially exists-a kind of gloss upon institutions and conventions. Primitive Christianity was devastating in its claims."

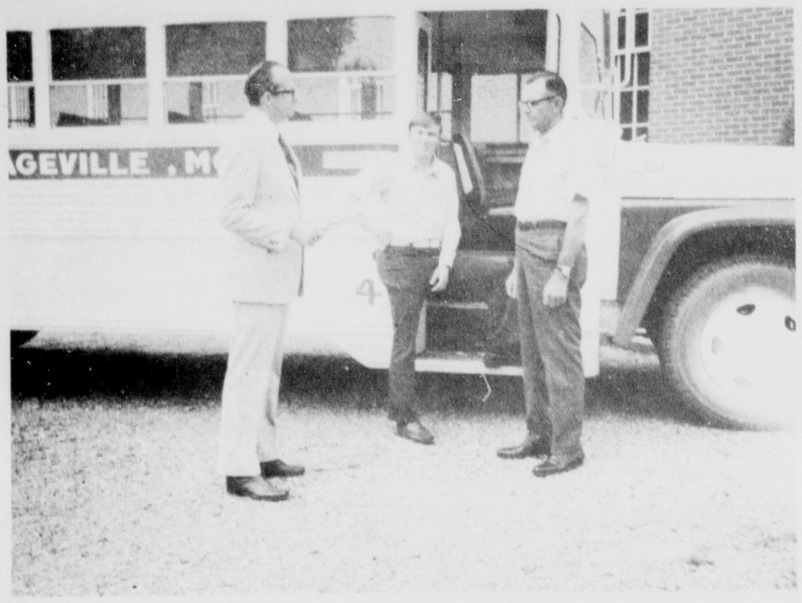

Many would challenge these comments yet at the same time they would recognize the need to keep the church relevant with the times.

George Bernard Shaw would agree with Paul. Shaw commented that "The best reformers the world has ever seen are those who commence on themselves."

We are not to avoid criticism of the church. But we should be willing to help in its renewal, first offering ourselves for renewal. Criticism should be viewed as a challenge. Is the church still teaching God's message?

BUS MINISTRY PLANS of First Baptist Church in Portageville are discussed by the pastor, the Rev. Richard Adams, left, his son Mike, a teen helper on the bus, and the driver, Rudy Latta.

From 221 To 448

Bus Ministry Doubles Attendance In 8 Weeks

PORTAGEVILLE -- An expanded bus ministry has contributed to a rapid increase in attendance at First Baptist Church by more than doubling the number in Sunday School in an eight-week period.

Sunday School attendance averaged 230 during 1971. On February 20 of this year the attendance was 221. The church was running one bus at that time, which picked up about 20 riders. A second bus was purchased and put in operation the following week. The attendance on Feb. 27 increased to 240. By the end of March attendance had grown to 367 with 94 coming on the two buses.

Bus number three was added the first Sunday in April, and attendance increased to 386 with 112 coming on the buses. A record attendance was reached on April 9 with 448 in Sunday School, including 157 on the buses. The church has since added a fourth bus, and the largest number riding buses on a single Sunday has been 180 on May 14.

Of the results of the expanded bus program, the Rev. Richard Adams, pastor, says, "The greatest response to the bus ministry has been from children ranging from four- year- olds through ninth graders. These are persons who have not been attending Sunday School or church anywhere. Our policy is that we will not invite people to come who are already attending church, and we stress this policy with our workers."

A 42- mile radius is covered by the four bus routes, being eight miles each to the north and south, and 13 miles each to the east and west of Portageville, including all side roads in the area. Buses depart at 8 a.m. and return at 9:30 a.m., ten minutes before Sunday School starts.

Weekly costs for the four-bus operation is about $96. This is for gas, oil and minor repair parts. In addition, many volunteer man hours are given in maintenance, planning and operations.

Volunteers meet each Thursday night to make minor repairs and have been recovering and repairing seats.

Operating somewhat like an airline service, personnel — in addition to a driver — include a bus captain, a minimum of two teen-age helpers and stewardesses.

Before starting on a route, the driver runs the engine for 15 minutes to be certain it is operating properly and completes a safety check of brakes, lights, windshield wipers and other equipment.

A captain is responsible for the safety of passengers. He supervises loading and unloading. He also directs a planned program of singing, Bible quizzes and discussions while the bus is en route.

A captain is required to attend a 45- minute planning session each Saturday morning. On Saturday afternoons he visits each home on his route, as well as house to house visitation in a new area.

Teen helpers are responsible for keeping buses clean and assist the captain with the programs.

After passengers are seated, stewardesses serve refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies in winter months or cold kool-aid in hot months.

A Bible day was held on the bus after it was learned most of the children did not have a Bible, and each child who rode was presented one. Two members donated money to buy 200 Bibles.

From the bus ministry, a children's church has evolved which averages 112 in attendance. One man, two women and a teenage pianist conduct services for ages four through third grade, geared to their level of understanding. The services are separate from the adult worship services which are held at the same time.

Personnel in the bus ministry are Rudy Latta, Gary Baker, Bill Henderson and Roy Hinton, drivers; Dudley Cryer, Charles Meadows, Sonny Hughes and the Rev. Adams, captains; and Mike Adams, Bruce Gremard, Cayla Stevens, Myra Estes, Ricky Mangrum, Trennis Henderson, Timmy Latta, Steve Harmon and Craig Hinton, teen helpers.

The Rev. Mr. Adams has been pastor since April 20, 1969.

THE PARK AND MERRIWETHER Singers from First Church of the Nazarene in Cape Girardeau will present "Life," a youth-oriented musical by Otis Skillings, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Eastside Church of the Nazarene, located at Ralph and Betty streets. The group has toured in Kentucky and Tennessee and has sung at the district fair and on television.

R.L. Robinson New Pastor At Hayti

HAYTI — The Rev. R. L. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Robinson who live near Poplar Bluff, is the new minister at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson attended Poplar Bluff High School, Soutehast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau and Central Baptist Seminary in Kansas City, Kan.

He taught school for five years and has served churches throughout Missouri 24 years.

He moved to Hayti from Chaffee, where he was pastor of the First Baptist Church.

He and his wife, the former Virginia VanDyke of Poplar Bluff, have three sons, Ron, a medical student at St. Louis University; Dan, a student at Southeast Missouri State College; and John, who is in grade school.

Tallapoosa VBS Set

TALLAPOOSA -- The Baptist Church will hold its Vacation Bible School Monday through Friday from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Enrollment will be taken Saturday at 3 p.m. in the church.

Mrs. Gene Lancaster is principal. Other faculty members are Jo Carlisle, Janie Landers, Mrs. Carl Rogers, Corliss Rogers, Mrs. W. M. Fortner, Mrs. Dorthy Mims, Mrs. Hugh Landers, Mrs. Willie Weldon, Mrs. Rayvon Knapp, Jane Landers and Pam Cunningham.

Teen College for Christ will begin July 10.

Church Honors Worker

GIDEON — A surprise dinner honored John Gifford for 31 years as Sunday School superintendent at the First Baptist Church.

He has served several years as Training Union director and Sunday School superintendent of Black River Association.

Gifford was presented a plaque by Robert Herring, and Mrs. Betty Dockins presented Mrs. Gifford a corsage from the young married women's class of the Sunday School. Mrs. Gifford is teacher of the class.

Festival Plans Revealed

BRIDGETON -- Missouri Baptist Children's Home will celebrate its 81st annual Strawberry Festival on June 3 at the main campus.

The Missouri Music Men, a group of music directors from churches all over the state will sing. More than 30 of these musicians are scheduled to perform in the main feature of the program at 2 p.m.

Other interests of the day are hundreds of homemade cakes, strawberries and ice cream, which will be served to the thousands who will attend the event. All types and styles of needlepoint, artwork and handcraft will also be on display and for purchase.

Presbytery Picks Name

DENVER (AP) — A new name for a recently enlarged midwestern unit of the United Presbyterian Church is now official — the "presbytery of Elijah Parish Lovejoy."

The name honors the memory of a minister-editor martyred more than a century ago in Alton, Ill., in the cause of the abolition of slavery and a free press.

Confirmation of the designation of the presbytery, centered around St. Louis and now including 101 congregations in parts of three states, came late Monday at the denomination's governing assembly.

The newly formed presbytery had picked the name of Lovejoy, a Presbyterian minister and editor shot to death by a mob in Alton on Nov. 7, 1837 for his opposition to slavery.

His "name stood out above all others in its significance" to the church and to the "cause of freedom and justice in this area and the nation," said a presbytery committee.

A pioneer in the "cause of freedom," Abraham Lincoln had called him, destined for a "martyr's crown."

He had started his paper, the Observer, in St. Louis, but after raids on it there, moved it to Alton, where his press was wrecked three times before the final mob attack in which he was killed.

A monument was erected to him in Alton. His brother had worked as a printer on the Alton Evening Telegraph, which had supported Lovejoy to some extent. A yoke of his hand press stands in the lobby of the Alton paper.

The recently enlarged presbytery was formed through combination of the former Presbytery of Alton, including 21 Illinois congregations, and the former Southeast Missouri Presbytery, including 80 congregations in Missouri and northern Arkansas.

Ministers Organize Conference

DEXTER — Ministers of Southern Baptist churches in Cane Creek- Stoddard Baptist Association met recently at a luncheon in the First Baptist Church to discuss organizaing a minister's conferce.

Officers elected were: Harold Belcher, Powe Church, president; Frank Breithaupt, Second Church, Poplar Bluff, vice - president; Ferrell Morgan, First Church, Advance, secretary - treasurer; and Ervin Keathley, First Church, Poplar Bluff, song leader.

Others present for the meeting were Marshal Dark, First Church, Dexter; Tom Fortner, Bell City Mission; Eugene Hale, Memorial Church, Poplar Bluff; Don Young, West Side Church, Dexter; Charles Hanna, First Church, Bloomfield; and Grover Kagy, director of missions, Cane Creek - Stoddard Association, with offices in Dexter.

The ministers' conference has the following purposes: fellowship and training and spiritual growth. One of the main objectives is relating to the spiritual and physical needs of the communities in which the churches are located.

There are 42 churches and two missions with a total membership of 9,406 in the association.

Parade To Open July 4 Celebration

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Ron Kokorudz, publicity chairman, announced today that the Cape Girardeau Jaycees will kick off their annual 4th of July celebration with a parade starting in Capaha Park July 1 at 10 a.m.

The parade will be routed from the Park eastward on Broadway, to Main, southward on Main and terminating in the parking lot on South Main.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will be parade marshal. Entries include The Bellettes, a precision all girl drum and bugle corps from Belleville, Ill., the Cape Municipal Band, the Blytheville Air Force base color guard and the Marine corps band from Millington, Tenn.

The Jaycees request all interested in entering the parade to contact Parade Chairman David Hahs, c/o Cape Girardeau Jaycees P. O. Box 4, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701.

Entrants will be contacted upon acceptance of entry. Deadline for entries will be June 15.

Heart Patient Care Course To Be Offered

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Cardiac Care Missouri, a project of the Missouri Heart Association in cooperation with the Missouri Regional Medical Program to lower the death rate from heart attacks in Southeast Missouri, will present the first of a series of programs to train persons to become instructors in cardiopulmonary resuscitation Wednesday.

The Cardiac Care Missouri project will train instructors, who will train people to administer cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Participating in the first class will be Dr. C. R. Talbert, Jr., who will discuss the history of cardiopulmonary resuscitation and the anatomy of sudden death. William Rader will discuss the legal aspects involved in resuscitation. Dr. William K. Bowman, a cardiologist, will be available to answer questions.

Serving as Instructors for the course will be Don Rouse of the Cape County Private Ambulance Service, Bill Adams of the Missouri State Highway Patrol; and Mrs. Karen S. Hendrickson,, registered nurse, assistant project director of Cardiac Care Missouri.

Three Rivers New Term Begins June 1

POPLAR BLUFF — The summer session of Three Rivers Community College will begin June 1.

Twenty- six courses are offered for the day program and five for the night school.

Orientation and testing of new students are scheduled for 9 a.m. June 1. Registration for the night school will begin at 6:30 p.m. the same day.

Registration for the day program will take place June 2 from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Classwork in the day program will begin at 8 a.m. June 5. Night school classwork will begin at 6:30 p.m. the same day.

The summer session will close with final examinations in the day program on July 28 and in the night program on the last scheduled night of the class.

College To Be Test Center

POPLAR BLUFF — A program of educational service will be undertaken by Three Rivers Community college this summer. The college has been approved by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., to serve as an open test center under the college level examination program.

The program is intended to permit veterans and other adults who have been out of high school for at least one year and desire to resume their education to earn college credits by making a test score equal to that required for passage from a freshman to a sophomore class in college.

At TRCC three college hours of credit will be allowed under the general examination program in social science, history, biological science, physical science, fine arts, literature, mathematics and English composition up to a maximum of 12 hours.

Politicking Can Cost Election Judge His Vote

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth held today an election has held or challenger convicted of electioneering in a polling place loses his right to vote unless he gets a full pardon restoring his voting rights.

At the same time, Danforth said an election judge who serves without being qualified under the law commits no criminal offense.

The opinion was requested by Gen. F. Pyle, Jasper County prosecuting attorney.

In another opinion for Robert E. Meyers of Rolla, state land surveyor, the attorney general said a county surveyor who is not a registered land surveyor can appoint a deputy who is a registered surveyor to do the work.

Meyers reported there are 71 county surveyors in Missouri and 15 of them are not registered land surveyors under a 1969 law.

Gilliland Eagle Scout

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Judge Marshall Craig, Sikeston, of the Southeast Missouri Council Eagle Board of Review, announced Boy Scouts who passed the Council Board of Review Tuesday, at the Colonial Restaurant for scouting's highest rank of Eagle:

William S. Latimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Latimer and Randy G. Seabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Seabaugh, both of Troop 311, Jackson; Michael A. Rosenthal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kuehle, troop two, Cape Girardeau; and David E. Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gilliland, troop 59, Sikeston.

Members of the Board of Review were Carlton Meyer, Terry Tomko, Bob Adams, Jackson; Ed Hilpert, Jerry Beckner, Council Scout Executive, Cape Girardeau; Walter Hedrick, George Hale, Judge Marshall Craig, Board of Review Chairman, Sikeston; and Roger Kearbey, Staff Advisor, Poplar Bluff.

Eagle candidates were guests of the Eagle board at dinner.

Aufdenberg Buys Firm

NEW MADRID — New Madrid Tractor and Implement Company, a John Deere dealership, has been sold to Gene Aufdenberg of Sikeston by H. C. Ransburgh and Sam Purser.

The firm was established in 1942 by the late Albert Ransburgh.

Employes remaining with the firm are Connie Clowers, bookkeeper; Albert Edwards, parts manager; Albert Purser, assistant parts manager; Pete Vent, shop foreman; James L. Yarbro, mechanic; Chester Robinson, mechanic; Wesley Strickland, set-up man; and Earl Montgomery, truck driver.

Aufdenberg owns and operates Aufdenberg Equipment Company in Sikeston.

Disposal Of Trash Pondered

SCOTT CITY — Residents questioned the City Council on the trash hauling ordinance and the possibilities of a trash burning ordinance Monday night.

Jack Holder, owner of a trash hauling service, discussed the ordinance on trash and refuse hauling with the council and was told it would be taken under advisement.

Residents of Sneed's Trailer Court discussed trash burning with the council. Discussion was tabled until an ordinance can be prepared.

In other business, the council:

Agreed to open in the road right of way a section of Seventh street to the property of Fred Cook.

Agreed to blade- mix Jettie May drive as soon as possible in response to James McKane's request for roadrepairs.

Approved a request from city collector, Mrs. Eloise Bollinger, that her vacation be set for June 18-25.

Asked the city clerk to set up a date with Dr. V. E. Owens, veterinarian, for vaccination and registration of dogs.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

"It would be well for him to have a millstone hung round his neck and be tossed into the sea, rather than prove a hindrance to one of these little ones!" (Luke , 17:2, Moffatt)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, guide, direct, and lead us in paths that will make us able to serve Thee and our neighbors as we ought. Amen.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 26, the 147th day of 1972. There are 219 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1868, an attempt to impeach President Andrew Johnson was defeated in the Senate by one vote.

On this date:

In 1790, Tennessee was organized as a territory.

In 1805, Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned king of Italy.

In 1864, the Montana Territory was organized.

In 1942, during World War II, German forces began their drives for Stalingrad and the Caucasus.

Also in 1942, Radio Tokyo boasted of war victories and said: "The Japanese people can look forward to a triumphal march into London and a victory march into New York."

In 1954, the funeral ship of the Egyptian pharaoh, Cheops, was discovered in Egypt.

Ten years ago: European extremists in Algiers bombed and burned out 18 elementary school buildings.

Five years ago: The Pentagon conceded that a U.S. Navy plane may have crossed into Communist China by mistake during a bombing mission in North Vietnam.

One year ago: A farm labor contractor, Juan Corona, was arrested after bodies of a number of men were found buried in orchards at Yuba City, Calif.

Today's birthdays: Actor John Wayne is 64. Chairman Laurance S. Rockefeller of the Citizen's Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality is 62.
